

WITNESS TURNS ON MANSON, BEAUSOLEIL

Woman Describes 'Family' Slaying of Hinman

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

The Manson Family fell apart Friday.

In a surprise move which even caught prosecutors off guard, one of the participants in the murder of musician Gary Hinman took the stand in the trial of family member Robert Beausoleil and implicated, not only herself and the 22-year-old baby-faced defendant, but three other "family" members, including the leader, Charles Manson.

Mary Theresa Brunner, a librarian at the Wisconsin University Library and a "family" member since the fall of 1968, accepted immunity for her participation in the murder of the UCLA graduate Friday and took the witness stand almost immediately. Up to that point she had not been expected to testify.

In cold, clipped sentences, she told the story of keeping the 35-year-old musician prisoner in his secluded Topanga Canyon home for three days, forcing him to chant Buddhist prayers as his wounds lay open. She said she and his other two captors ate a final meal with him before inflicting fatal chest wounds; held a pillow over his face when his death gasps became too loud and then stopped for "coffee and cake" en route home from the murder house.

The defendant began to show signs of strain, as the short-haired ex-hippie told a seven-man, five-woman jury the tale of brutal, cold-blooded murder. Beausoleil's mother, sitting with her husband in a front row of the courtroom, wept openly.

"Bobby asked if I wanted to go to Gary's house — but he didn't tell me why then," the girl began, glancing at Beausoleil. "We went there with Bruce (Davis) and Sadie (Susan Denise Atkins). It was a Friday. Bruce drove and just dropped us off; he didn't go in the house. "We decided that Sadie and I would go to the house and if Gary was there alone, we'd signal at the window. We were going to ask Gary for some money — for $3,000 or $30,000 — I'm not sure how much.

"Sadie and I talked to Gary, then signaled to Bobby — the signal was something like lighting a match at the livingroom window, because that's the window you could see from the road.

"Anyway, we talked for a while, then Bobby asked Gary for the money, and Gary said he didn't have any. Bobby said we weren't kidding and pulled out the

Pete's Posters

Q. I was looking at the cover of Seventeen fashion magazine and noticed some zodiac posters by Peter Max. Is there somewhere that I can purchase these? A. C. Los Alamitos

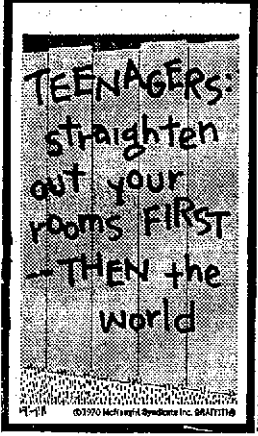

A. Peter Max, known as the Michelangelo of the love generation, has converted his colorful drawings to everything from clocks to scarves to umbrellas. The zodiac posters which you saw on this month's cover of Seventeen actually are pages from a 1971 calendar book which has not yet been completed for marketing, according to a spokesman for Peter Max Enterprises in New York. The calendar should be available in June in local department stores and book shops for about $3.

Court Case

Q. I have been divorced for two years, and the judge gave me visitation rights with my children. I have never missed a child support payment but my wife refuses to let me see the children. My attorney says that the only thing I can do is take her to court, which will cost me money that I cannot afford. I told my wife I would stop payments if she did not let me see the children, but she said she would have me in jail for nonpayment. What can I do? D. M., Lakewood

A. Your attorney is right. There is no way otherwise that you, the police or the district attorney can force your wife to let you see the children. The District Attorney's office suggests that you send a certified letter to your wife requesting visitation, and use this as evidence if she still refuses and you decide to take action. Attorneys for the child support division of the District Attorney's office warn that denial of visitation rights is not grounds for nonpayment of child support, and your wife can enforce her right to child support if you cease payments for this reason.

GRAFFITI by Leary

June and I have not received a job. Is there anything I can do to get my money back? L. H. K., Compton

A. "We do not make refunds under any circumstance," said Barry Batson, Overseas Services branch manager. "We are not an employment agency and we don't sell jobs; we are only a service," he said. "We prepare the client's resume and mail it to corporations in areas overseas to provide him with exposure to firms who can use his skills." He said the agreement you signed in June explained the company's no-refund policy, and added that your resume still is being sent to companies who are looking for someone with your skills. The service will continue until you accept a job or ask to have your file closed.

The Golden Years

Q. In a recent column, ACTION LINE stated that the Recording Industry Association of America had been issuing gold records since 1958. As a one-time vocalist, I had an avid interest in the gold records awards and I would be willing to swear that the recording artists have been awarded gold records a good deal longer than 12 years. Is it possible that the individual recording companies were passing out these trophies to their own artists? Mrs. J. B., Cypress

A. Yes. The gold records issued before 1958 were awarded by the manufacturers themselves. In 1958, the RIAA began auditing record company sales figures to certify that a particular recording had sold one million singles or $1 million worth of albums and tapes, and was therefore eligible for a gold record. The RIAA consists of record and tape manufacturers, who distribute 50 per cent of the recordings in America, according to an association spokesman, and was formed in 1952 as a representative of the record manufacturers in matters of copyrights, postal traffic, and other legislation affecting the industry.

Red-Riddled Craft Smashes Buildings at Thailand Base

BANGKOK (AP) — A battle-scarred U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane limping back to base crashed into officers' quarters at Udorn Air Base in northeastern Thailand Friday, killing at least three Americans and injuring 30.

an emergency landing at Udorn when he lost control. Both crewmen ejected safely over the base.

The plane, damaged by antiaircraft fire over Laos, plunged into the barracks beside the runway, the spokesman said.

The aircraft exploded on impact and fire destroyed nine buildings, an officers' trailer and the building housing the office of the Armed Forces Radio Network. The crash occurred in the afternoon when the barracks were not fully occupied.

He said that final casualty figures were not yet available and that the toll might rise.

Identities of the three dead men were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Six thousand men are stationed at Udorn, the Thailand headquarters of the U.S. Air Force 452 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Lots of Sun Today, Sunday

It'll be "Long Beach weather" today and Sunday — which, translated, means there'll be lots of sun, temperatures ranging up to 78 degrees and water temperatures of 60 to 64 degrees.

The weatherman says coastal fog and low clouds would clear off by mid-morning today and Sunday.

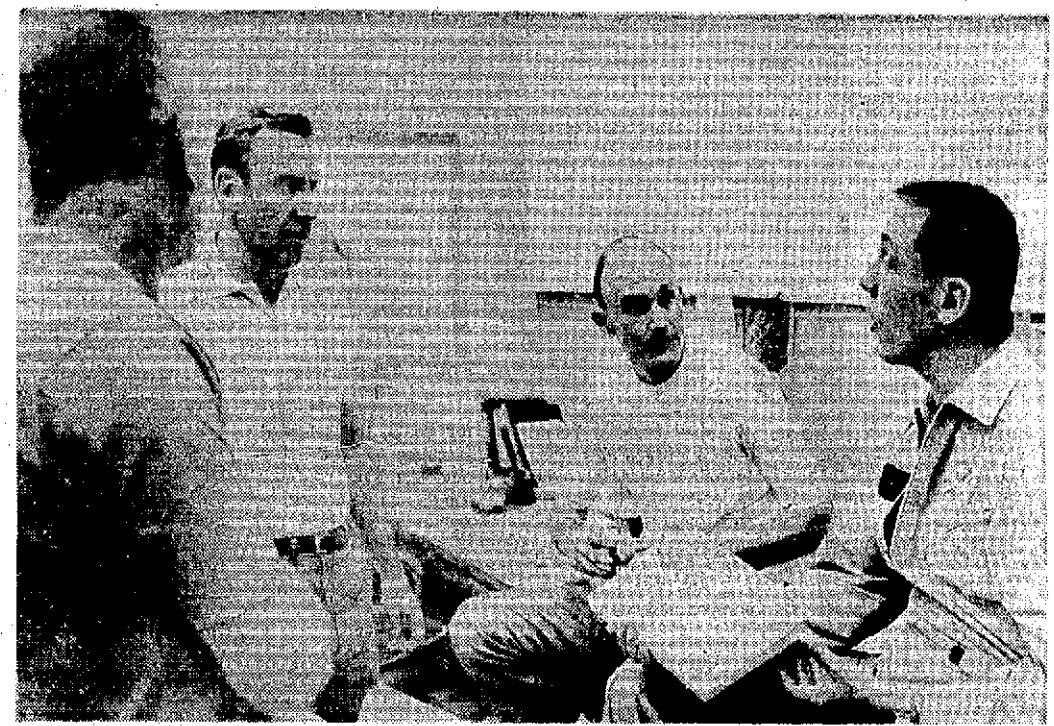

L.B. Vets' Hospital Facilities Ripped as Worst in State

By VERN SMITH
Staff Writer

Medical facilities at the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital are "the worst in the state," the state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars charged Friday after a four-hour "fact-finding" visit to the hospital.

Otis R. Menasco told a news conference he had found these "glaring deficiencies" in his tour of the hospital at Seventh Street

FREIGHTER DOCKS THE HARD WAY

The freighter Pacific Banker made a powerful impact on harbor authorities Friday when it docked in San Pedro.

It smashed into Berth 71 in the main harbor channel, ripping out about 150 feet of wharf and causing as much as $100,000 in damage.

The freighter, a Matson Navigation Co. ship, was inbound from Kobe, Japan, when a steering mechanism jammed and the ship ran out of control. No one was injured.

Two tugs pulled the vessel to Bethlehem Steel Corp. yards for repair of a large gash about 12 feet above the water line.

A city harbor commission spokesman said the Coast Guard would investigate the accident.

L.A. WALKOUT LOOMS 2 Cities' Schools Closed by Strikes

Associated Press

Teachers' strikes closed all schools in two cities Friday and sharply curtailed classes in a third. A walkout was threatened for Monday in Los Angeles.

Schools were shut in Muskogee, Okla., and Butte, Mont., and about half the schools in Minneapolis were forced to cancel classes.

THE MUSKOGEE strike by 400 teachers stemmed from a dispute over the city's school desegregation problem.

The Muskogee school board discarded a desegregation plan approved by the federal government on March 26. Monday, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare warned that unless another acceptable plan was presented by April 17, the district would not be in compliance with the law and the case would be sent to the Justice Department.

School officials in Butte canceled all classes in the wake of the first teachers' strike in Montana's history.

School Supt. Charles Davis said the walkout by about 450 teachers stemmed from a dispute over part of the union contract which allows the hiring of administrators from outside the school system. About 9,000 students were affected.

The 1,800-member AFL-CIO Minneapolis Federation of Teachers struck Thursday in a wage dispute. They were joined by some of the 1,600 members City of Minneapolis Education Association who ignored a plea from their leaders that they return to work. The CMEA was served Friday with a temporary restraining order, directing an end to the walkout.

About 2,000 of the city's 3,400 teachers stayed off the job Friday. Forty of 99 schools were totally or partially closed.

IN CALIFORNIA, teachers in the 653,000-pupil Los Angeles School District voted Thursday night to strike Monday over demands for a six per cent wage boost.

Pickets at County Hospitals

Pickets — numbering as many as 500 at one location — marched in front of Los Angeles County hospitals Friday, demanding "real across the table bargaining" from the county's board of supervisors.

The employees began marching early at USC County Medical Facility in Los Angeles, where about 500 persons manned the picket lines.

Rookie Swigert Gets Nod

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — America's Apollo 13 astronauts are ready to fly man's riskiest moon-landing mission today after a rookie spaceman earned a seat with a remarkable and unprecedented rehearsal.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., 42, and civilians Fred W. Haise Jr., 36, and John L. Swigert, 38, were set to ride a giant Saturn 5 rocket away from their home planet at 11:13 a.m. PST.

Their goal is a search for clues to the origin of the moon — and the solar system — in the rugged and ancient Fra Mauro highlands.

In the most difficult space maneuver ever attempted, Lovell and Haise are to steer their lunar lander toward a precision touchdown in a narrow valley surrounded by high hills, ridges, craters and rocks as big as automobiles.

THE COUNTDOWN for America's third moon-landing expedition proceeded because Swigert proved in a crash two-day trial that he could move from the Apollo 13 backup team to the first team.

The decision to fly Swigert was made less than 24 hours before the scheduled launching.

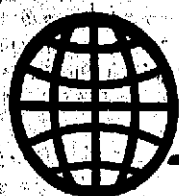

If Swigert hadn't made it, the launching would have been postponed until May 9 at a cost of at least $800,000.

He got his chance when another backup astronaut, Charles Duke, exposed the prime crewmen, Lovell,

S. Viets Kill 214 Reds in 4-Day Battle

COMBINED NEWS SERVICES

SAIGON — More than 1,000 South Vietnamese troops with air support killed at least 214 Communist soldiers in a four-day operation inside Cambodia as far as five miles from the frontier, allied military sources said Friday. Elsewhere, a relief column battled through jungles on South Vietnam's central highlands and lifted the 11-day siege of the U.S. Green Beret camp at Dak Seang 290 miles northeast of Saigon. Allied officials said more than 1,300 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the Dak Seang campaign.

Cambodian Soldiers Massacre 90 Civilians

PRASAUT — Cambodian soldiers firing machine guns massacred at least 90 Vietnamese civilians Friday night when Viet Cong forces attacked a refugee camp in an apparent attempt to "liberate" 300 Vietnamese civilians held there. Twenty other refugees were wounded, survivors said, when Cambodian guards at the camp ordered the civilians to flee, then opened fire on them. One of the camp guards said the 300 refugees were being treated as Viet Cong suspects since it was believed they had aided Communist forces in their advance into Cambodia.

Arab Guerrillas Raid Israeli Sites

AMMAN — The Palestinian Armed Struggle Command announced Friday that Al Fatah guerrillas have launched attacks on five Israeli settlements in reprisal for the Israeli air raid on an Egyptian school which Cairo said killed 30 children. The command announced in Amman that the guerrillas had lobbed mortars at Beisan settlement twice in five hours, causing heavy losses in lives and property. It said the commandos also attacked four Israeli settlements in Upper Galilee.

Pope Paul Urges End to Mideast War

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI prayed Friday that the reported death of 30 Egyptian school children in an Israeli air raid might shock world leaders into realization that the Middle East war must be stopped. In a message delivered to the Egyptian ambassador, The Pope urged those who hold responsible positions to leave nothing untried to bring fighting to an end.

Ian Smith Party Returned to Office

SALISBURY — Rhodesia's predominantly white electorate gave Prime Minister Ian Smith a clear mandate for his segregationist policies Friday by returning his party overwhelmingly to office. Observers said the victory was an indication that the 250,000 white Rhodesians favored continued white domination of the country's 4.5 million blacks and complete severance of ties with Queen Elizabeth II under the republican constitution, which takes effect May 2.

Greece Eases Civil Rights Control

ATHENS — Prime Minister George Papadopoulos announced further relaxation Friday of his government's grip on the civil rights of Greeks. He also announced the release of about 350 political detainees. Among restrictions to be eased was freedom from arbitrary arrest. He said police would be forbidden to arrest anyone without a warrant unless they were caught in the act of committing a crime.

Body of Ambassador Returned to Germany

GUATEMALA CITY — East German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel flew here Friday to pick up the body of slain ambassador Karl von Sprei for burial and to deliver a brusque protest against Guatemalan handling of the kidnap-slaying of the diplomat. Scheel expressed Bonn's "disappointment" over Guatemala's refusal to pay the ransom demanded for Von Sprei's safe return.

Japan Orders Embassy Staff Home

TOKYO — Japan has ordered its embassy staff home from Guatemala because of the kidnap-murder there of German Ambassador Count Karl von Sprei. The Foreign Office had cabled Japanese Ambassador Hisajiro Fujita to leave Guatemala with his seven-man staff as soon as possible.

Gov. Kirk Called 'Dangerous and a Public Nuisance'

BRADENTON — Florida Gov. Claude Kirk allowed federal marshals to serve subpoenas on nine of his aides Friday and told the Supreme Court there is "grave danger of loss of life" among both federal and state officials in the Manatee County school confrontation. Kirk let the marshals past his 80 guards to serve the subpoenas and said "If this is the way to get to the Supreme Court, I'll give them every member of my staff. I'll give them everything."

Kirk, who took over the school system Wednesday to fight busing provisions in a court-ordered desegregation plan, had a motion filed in the Supreme Court to have the entire matter transferred to the high tribunal.

gation plan, had a motion filed in the Supreme Court to have the entire matter transferred to the high tribunal.

"There is grave danger of loss of life among those federal and state officials who are enforcing their respective federal and state laws, which laws have not been judicially invalidated by any three-judge federal court or other court having jurisdiction," the motion said.

The Miami Herald Friday night called for Kirk's impeachment if he persists in this manner. The paper said Kirk "is no longer a joke. He is a dangerous and intolerable public nuisance."

Vote on Golf of Tonkin Resolution

WASHINGTON — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously Friday to repeal the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution which authorized unlimited U.S. military intervention in Southeast Asia to counter aggression. The resolution which President Johnson interpreted as authority to send more than 500,000 American troops to South Vietnam, will be wiped off the books if both the House and Senate adopt it, as expected. It cannot be vetoed by the President.

FDA Denies Use of Food Additives

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration has revoked permission for use of thousands of food additives and given manufacturers 60 days to try to obtain new approval for them. The FDA said the order applies to additives given informal approval before passage of Pure Food Amendments in 1938. Approval was handled so loosely, it said, that it does not know how many additives are involved or what they are. But it said most were chemical and estimated the number at 1,000 to 10,000.

Gas Warning Unnerves Gov. McCall

ASTORIA — Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said Friday the Army had asked the states of Oregon and Washington to be prepared to evacuate people along the route of the nerve gas trains from Bangor, Wash., to Hermiston, Ore. He said that this was to be only in the case of an emergency but "this opens up a whole vista of problems," and shows the Department of Defense assurances of safety in moving chemical weapons from Okinawa to storage in Oregon to be hollow talk. "We are not experts," he said, and added there is no way the states can operate effectively to guarantee the safety of the people.

Senate Votes Peace Corps Budget Cut

WASHINGTON — Noting that the Peace Corps is dwindling in numbers, the Senate voted Friday to cut its budget $8 million, while adding a program for recruiting married couples with children. The Senate passed a bill to authorize $90 million to finance the Peace Corps for the fiscal year starting July 1. The authorization is $98.4 million this fiscal year for the program in which American volunteers work overseas to help underdeveloped areas improve living standards of their citizens.

Missile Strays Off Course, Destroyed

CAPE KENNEDY — A Polaris missile strayed off course and was destroyed by the range safety officer Friday after it was launched by the crew of the nuclear submarine Henry Clay. The 28-foot weapon, which darted away from the submerged craft, developed a malfunction in the first stage and was blown up deliberately by a radio signal that triggered explosive devices in the rocket. It fell harmlessly into the sea.

Curfew Lifted Despite Bomb Threats

ITHACA — Five bomb threats were reported on the troubled Cornell University campus Friday but the administration lifted an 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. campus curfew anyway. Lowell T. George, director of public safety for Cornell, said no explosives were found after any of the calls. Two of the threats concerned the same building. The building was emptied the second time but no bomb was found.

Blacks to Run Groppi Parish

Combined News Services

Rev. James E. Groppi, controversial Priest at St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church in Milwaukee, Wis., is preparing to leave the parish. The church is being taken over June 1 by a team of black priests headed by Rev. Kenneth Stewart.

"I'm just starting to gather my junk together," Groppi said Friday. "I don't know where I'm going to bring it." Groppi, a central figure in civil rights campaigns and a strong advocate of having a black pastoral team at St. Boniface, was apprehensive as to his future.

"I guess I'll just have to leave it up to the Lord. I have no idea of where I'm going," he said. Stewart, 30, is administrator of Francis Community School in Milwaukee and a member of the Capuchin order. Stewart was appointed pastor by Rev. Rupert Dorn, Detroit, the provincial superior.

Groppi said he probably would do whatever his superiors asked, even if it meant going to a conservative white community parish. He was a leader in the marathon open housing marches in Milwaukee in the 1960s and gained a national reputation as a civil rights activist.

In recent months, he concentrated on welfare problems and last fall was involved actively in the welfare demonstrations at Madison.

Just last Wednesday a federal judge freed Groppi from a contempt charge issued against him as a result of the disturbances.

HEART HISTORY

Louis B. Russell of Indianapolis set a world record Friday, living longer than anyone else with a transplanted heart. He skipped his doctor's appointment because he was "too busy." Russell said he wanted to get an early start on the two-hour drive to Louisville, Ky., where he was to make his seventh speech in five days.

The robust Indianapolis schoolteacher made medical history Friday by living 595 days with a transplanted heart. Dr. Phillip Blalberg of South Africa, the retired dentist who died last Aug. 17 at the age of 58, lived 594 days with a new heart. Russell, who will be 45 April 26, predicts that he'll live to be 120.

OAKES BIRTH

The wife of Richard Oakes, who led the Indian invasion of Alcatraz Nov. 20, gave birth Friday to a seven pound girl. The child, born to Mrs. Ann Oakes at Mt. Zion Hospital, San Francisco. Oakes, a 28-year-old Mohawk, left the island in January after his daughter, Yvonne, 12, suffered a fatal fall while playing in a building which was formerly used to house Alcatraz guards. He has since returned to his studies at San Francisco State College.

'SMALL ISSUE'

Wealthy Texan H. Ross Perot said Friday he concluded on a recent tour of Southeast Asia that Hanoi is indifferent to the fate of 7,000 North Vietnamese in South Vietnamese prisoner-of-war camps. "The North Vietnamese are not concerned about their own men," Perot told newsmen after his return. "They consider the prisoner-of-war issue a small issue," he said.

DEFILES FLAG

The State of Kansas Friday charged Able Hoffman of the Chicago Seven with blowing his nose on the American flag. Hoffman, who spoke recently at Kansas Wesleyan University, was charged with "unlawfully, wilfully and publicly defaced, defiled and cast contempt upon the Flag of the United States by blowing his nose on said flag."

VISITS POPE

Dr. Michael B. De Bakery of Houston, Tex., the Heart specialist, called on Pope Paul VI Friday in a private audience. DeBakery is in Rome to see a former patient and to confer with Italian doctors.

MCCARTNEY BREAKS UP THE BEATLES

Paul McCartney broke up The Beatles, the most fabulously successful band in the history of popular music, Friday by withdrawing to concentrate on a solo career as songwriter, recording artist and family man. The 27-year-old creative dynamo, confirmed in London that he was striking out completely on his own in written answers to questions sent him in lieu of a personal interview. Two flat negatives ended the seven-and-a-half-year reign of the group, an era that changed the social history of the time, made millions out of McCartney and his songwriting partner John Lennon and rich young men out of Ringo Starr and George Harrison.

PRISON TERM IN L.A. BRIBERY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mel Pierson, former city recreation and parks commissioner convicted of bribery in city architectural contracts, was sentenced Friday to 1-to-14 years in state prison.

Pierson, 46, was denied probation by Superior Court Judge Ackerman convicted Pierson last Jan. 14 on recommended it.

Judge Ackerman convicted Pierson last Jan. 14 on three counts of receiving bribes and one of soliciting a bribe in the awarding of city contracts. He was acquitted on a fifth count of bribery.

Pierson was found guilty of accepting a $4,500 bribe from architect Irving Shapiro and of soliciting a $25,000 bribe from golf concessionaire Richard O. Boggs.

Pierson would not comment on whether he had been made a scapegoat in the city contract scandal after Dalton argued the defendant was only the middleman and no action was taken against either the giver of the bribes or the public officials who accepted them.

Pierson, who operates recreation camps for children, was appointed to the commission by Mayor Sam Yorty in 1961.

2 HOSPITALS READY Lung Implants Due in L.B. Area

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

At least two Long Beach area medical centers are prepared to perform the Southland's first human lung-transplant operations.

This was disclosed Friday during a scientific meeting at St. Mary's Hospital.

Surgical teams at Harbor General Hospital, Torrance, a teaching hospital of UCLA Medical School, and Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital, affiliated with UC Irvine College of Medicine, are ready to attempt the operation.

Dr. John Benfield, chief of surgery at Harbor General, said one person, a Long Beach woman, has already been offered a lung transplant but turned it down.

Dr. Benfield, speaking on "Current Status of Lung Transplantation," admitted that lung-transplant attempts throughout the world to date have been fairly dismal.

BUT MEDICAL science has learned a lot from the 23 human transplants attempted to date, he said.

"It is clear that we should have better results in the future," he said.

One recipient of a lung-transplant operation lived more than 10 months, he disclosed.

All the others so far have succumbed in less than one month, his compilation of data shows.

Extensive animal work in the laboratory at Harbor General shows that transplantation of lungs is feasible.

The key problem remains the organ rejection phenomenon, he said.

There are other problems too. One is preservation of the donor lung, but Harbor General can preserve a lung for up to four hours, Dr. Benfield said.

ANOTHER problem is that a crisis customarily occurs soon after a lung-transplant operation is performed.

Function of the donor lung can be expected to falter significantly within the first three postoperative days. But if this period can be weathered successfully by the patient, stability of lung function is usually reached within three weeks, he said.

Dr. Benfield said that a breakthrough can be expected momentarily in the field of "prolonged auxiliary respiration support."

One research team, using a membrane oxygenation device, has managed to maintain a human patient for six days, he disclosed. Researchers also have been able to maintain fetal lambs under water with breathing-support instruments.

DR. BENFIELD said that early lung-transplant attempts should be regarded as attempts to palliate symptoms in patients with certain types of chronic respiratory insufficiency.

Until many problems are solved, lung transplants should not be considered by the public as a means of permanently replacing a lung to cure a disease, he explained.

From 1963 to 1969, there were 23 recipients in lung-transplant operations, he reported. Seventeen of these received a lung, four received lung lobes and two received units of two lungs and a heart.

A Long Beach VA Hospital doctor disclosed at the meeting that Dr. Edward Stemmer, chief of surgery at the VA, and Dr. John Connolly, chairman of the department of surgery at UC Irvine, are tooling up to perform a lung-transplant operation at the VA Hospital.

2 DIAMOND RINGS STOLEN FROM STAR

PALM DESERT (UPI)

— Actress Greer Garson reported that two diamond rings valued at a total of $75,000 were stolen from her at a beauty shop, the sheriff's office said Friday.

Miss Garson told deputies she took off the two rings and her wedding ring and left them in a tray before she got a manicure. She left the shop forgetting to put the rings back on.

The actress said she returned to the shop when she remembered she had left the jewelry, but only her wedding ring could be found.

Newest of Skyhawk Planes Tested Over the Southland

The A-4M, newest light attack aircraft for the U.S. Marine Corps, flew Friday for the first time.

The small but rugged jet, produced in Long Beach, Torrance and Palmdale by the Douglas Aircraft Co. division of the McDonnell Douglas Corp. for the Naval Air Systems Command, is the most powerful of the Skyhawk series of military aircraft.

Walter S. Smith, McDonnell Douglas test pilot, was at the controls as the sleek Skyhawk sped down the runway at the Palmdale airport and streaked skyward for a one-hour checkout of its flight characteristics and major systems.

DURING the maiden flight, Smith flew the A-4M to an altitude of 30,000 feet and reached a top speed of about mach .9.

Designed for operation from carriers or from forward area bases, the A-4M is 40.3 feet long, 15 feet high and has a wingspan of 27.5 feet. It weighs 10,600 pounds empty, 24,500 pounds loaded and can carry 8,200 pounds of all types of modern tactical armament. Deliveries of the A-4M are scheduled to commence next fall.

The new aircraft contains a number of improvements over its immediate predecessor, the A-

State Board OKs Teacher Ethics Code

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

SACRAMENTO — "The educator believes in the worth and dignity of man . . . and accepts his responsibility to practice his profession according to the highest ethical standards."

So begins a comprehensive, nonpunitive code of ethics for California teachers as approved and adopted by the State Board of Education near the end of a two-day meeting here Friday.

During a required public hearing on the proposed code, only two objections were raised — by California Federation of Teachers Vice President Miles Myers.

Myers questioned two code sentences, the first calling on a teacher "to judge his colleagues and to be judged by them."

"Since the teacher has no voice in the training, hiring and firing of his colleagues, he shouldn't be called upon to judge them," Myers said.

State Supt. of Public Instruction Max Rafferty replied that "this is an insoluble Gordian knot. If teachers themselves do not decide on other teachers' ethics, then some lay group will — and I don't think you'll like this."

The CFT official, an Oakland high school English Teacher, also objected to a "criticism stifling" provision that states:

"He (the educator) has an obligation not to misrepresent his profession in public discussion . . . and when criticizing it in public he (should not) distort the facts."

"We in the profession need constantly to voice opinions and if we keep quiet — as it would seem is required — we would be keeping from the public the information it needs," Myers said.

Rafferty responded that "no one in the state has been more critical than I about education, but I have always made a strong effort not to distort the facts." He suggested that "my fellow teachers" follow his lead in this.

Board member Mrs. Donald Krotz asked if the code "changes the law regarding the firing of teachers" and was told by Lawrence Kearney, the board's general counsel, that it does not.

As restated in the now-approved ethics code, an educator may be denied a teaching credential for violations involving "jeopardy to student welfare, evidenced malice, serious incompetency or bad judgment or a consistent pattern of misconduct."

Spelled out in the document are teachers' commitment and responsibility to students, public and the education profession.

Tank Landing Ship to Be Commissioned

The public is invited to the commissioning of the new class tank landing ship Frederick at 11 a.m. today at Long Beach Pier E.

Vice Adm. Kleber S. Masterson (ret.) will be the main speaker. After the 30-minute ceremony the ship will open for visitors.

In another action, board president Howard Day of Long Beach warned State Curriculum Commission members to be on their guard against textbook publishers who might "wine and dine" them in an effort to influence their judgment.

Day's warning was prompted by a letter from Richard Clowes, Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools, who noted that the commission "has the power to influence $20 million in textbook business."

Clowes told of one commissioner's trip to Reno with a publisher's representative, Day said. Day identified the man as a Los Angeles elementary school principal.

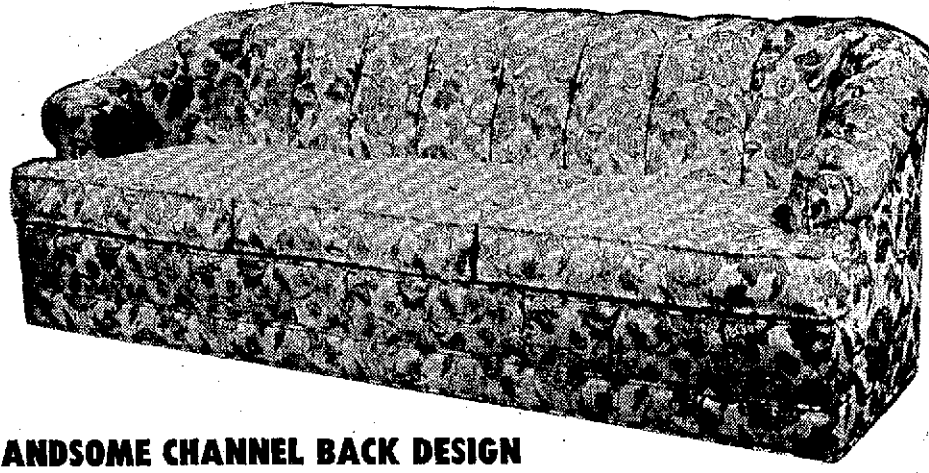

Day said he has talked with the administrator, who indicated he paid his own expenses on the Reno trip. "I told him he was guilty by association . . . and shouldn't be spending his evenings with persons doing business with the commission. He agreed I was right," said Day.

The president warned against future incidents but expressed full confidence in the commission. Rafferty said he doubted publishers' salesmen would be so popular if they did not have "unlimited expense accounts."

Walk-Outs, Sick-Ins Havoc Industry

Associated Press

Despite a tentative national wage agreement, rebellious Teamsters continued on strike in many areas Friday amid scattered reports of violence. In retaliation to the walk-out, five major Chicago employer groups locked out 32,000 truck drivers.

Elsewhere on the national labor scene, the sick-call strike of air traffic controllers moved through a 17th day, with airline operations hampered and losses reaching an estimated $85 million.

The threat of a newspaper blackout in New York City heightened as the weekend approached.

Wildcat railroad strikes also were threatened, despite a new federal law imposing a contract settlement on a maverick shop union. Labor unrest cropped up in the rubber industry.

In the trucking industry, a tentative national contract agreed to last week in Washington provided for pay raises of $1.10 an hour, subject to rank-and-file approval. A trucking industry spokesman and the head of the Teamsters have announced they are standing by the pact and want it voted upon.

HOWEVER, Teamsters in rebellion against the terms continued their strikes in a number of cities, among them Chicago. There a magnificent lockout drew the support of the Trucking Employers National Association.

Also in Chicago, another major trucking association employing 8,000 drivers bolted the national wage pattern and signed an agreement with eight Teamsters locals providing a $1.65 an hour wage increase over three years. An independent drivers union was included in the pact.

In Western Pennsylvania, police said roving bands of steel haulers picketed terminals and attempted to stop truck traffic. Fighting, vandalism, a shooting and a hit-and-run incident were reported, and state police patrols on the Pennsylvania Turnpike were doubled.

Six employees of a Cleveland trucking firm were arrested in Painesville, Ohio, after a bullet struck a truck. In Huron County, Ohio, four rear tires were shot out on another truck.

Layoffs resulting from the trucking tieup hit 2,000 employees of the Ford Motor Co. in Cleveland. Nearly 30,000 other auto workers already were idle in Detroit and St. Louis. Ford scheduled a 50 per cent cutback in production at its two Louisville, Ky., plants because of a parts shortage caused by the truck strikes.

IN NEW YORK, 10 unions continued contract talks involving 13,000 employees on the city's four major local newspapers — the morning Times and Daily News, and the afternoon Post and Long Island Press.

The unions rejected an offer of a 16.5 per cent wage increase before the March 30 expiration of their old contracts. They have not outlined their own demands.

The AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild of New York set a Monday strike deadline at New York Post. The other unions set no deadlines, but the Printers Union foresaw the possibility of a weekend lockout at the New York Times.

Three railroad shop unions agreed last December to an increase of 66 cents an hour in wages that currently average $3.60. It was to have covered 47,000 members of four shop unions.

However, a fourth union, the Sheet Metal Workers, balked at the pact on grounds it would allow craftsmen to cross jurisdictional lines for "incidental work."

A BILL signed Thursday by President Nixon imposed the December settlement on the Sheet Metal Workers. However, union leaders said they might not be able to prevent wildcat strikes by today's original deadline for a nationwide walkout.

In Akron, Ohio, local United Rubber Workers members authorized their leadership to call strikes when the national contract expires April 20 at Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., B. F. Goodrich Co., and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. Involved are 12,000 workers.

JOBS, UNEMPLOYMENT INCREASE

Although employment in Los Angeles County rose to a record high of 3,217,100 for March, the number of persons without jobs increased nearly 25 per cent over a year ago, it was reported Friday.

Unemployment, which usually declines at the end of the first quarter of the year, was unchanged between February and March — totaling 170,300, compared with 136,700 a year ago.

Gilbert L. Sheffield, director of the State Department of Human Resources Development, said the nearly 25 per cent rise in unemployment over the year reflected the decline in aerospace activities and recent slowing of the area's economy.

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in March was 4.9 per cent, up from 4.7 per cent in February and compared with 4 per cent in March 1968.

The total of persons working rose by 7,100 during the month, despite a weakness in job trends due to the downturn in defense and space related jobs, Sheffield said.

MANUFACTURING employment was off for the seventh consecutive month, representing the longest uninterrupted decline in factory jobs since the late 1950s.

During the past month, layoffs reached a total of 6,600 workers in the aerospace industries as the work force continued to taper off in commercial aircraft production and in defense and space projects.

Improvement in seasonal industries such as apparel, food processing, printing and publishing, fabricated metals and toy manufacturing moderated the over-all loss in factory jobs, said Sheffield.

Over-the-year employment gains in March dropped to 40,800, the smallest year-to-year advance in more than eight years. A reduction of 35,600 jobs in manufacturing since last March reflects heavy cutbacks in aerospace employment.

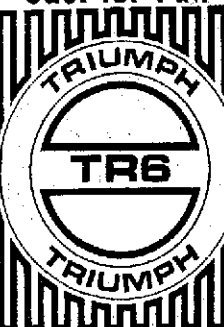

WHOLESALE and retail trade employment, however, continued to expand over the year, up by 25,600 jobs. The service industries added 20,600 workers over the same period, while increased need for workers in local government jurisdictions accounted for an employment growth of 15,600 in government.

Nationally, unemployment, climbing at the fastest rate in a decade to the highest level in nearly five years, rose to 4.4 per cent of the nation's work force in March. A total of 3.7 million Americans were out of work.

Total employment also increased — up 468,000 to 78 million — but not enough to balance off an unexpectedly big flood of new job seekers, said the government report Friday.

Most of the employment gain was in part-time workers while the 230,000 rise in jobless was entirely among adults — mostly women — seeking full-time jobs, the Labor Department said. The average work remained low in the sluggish economy, it added.

STATE IN SLUMP

Aerospace Jobs Face New Cuts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state director of commerce said Friday California's aerospace industry — which has shrunk by 96,000 jobs in the past three years — might lose 40,000 more in the next few months.

J. B. Sullivan told the Joint Committee on Atomic Development and Space that the loss of 40,000 more aerospace jobs would be a likely development if North American-Rockwell Corp. failed to land the contract for the new Air Force B-1 bombers.

THAT WOULD also mean the elimination of 60,000 jobs in related fields, Sullivan said.

Like previous cutbacks in the aerospace industry, most of the impact of future cuts would be felt in Los Angeles County, Sullivan said. He said three-quarters of the jobs lost since 1967, when the industry peaked in California at 616,000 jobs, have been in Los Angeles County.

Total employment in California is now 8,003,000 persons, the Department of Human Resources Development reported.

ALSO APPEARING at the daylong hearing on aerospace industry problems was UCLA professor Willard F. Libby, who described the shortage of persons trained to relate the technology of the space age to current social and industrial problems.

He said UCLA plans a new five-year post-graduate program leading to a doctor of environmental science and engineering degree.

"Our present difficulties are due more to our ignorance rather than to mismanagement," said Libby, director of the UCLA institute of geophysics and planetary physics.

probably would be killed in the House. Under any circumstances, it faces a stiff battle in the Senate.

—The Administration would offer no objections if Congress, at Rivers' instigation, appropriated something in the neighborhood of $3 billion to build warships during the fiscal year that starts July 1. The Pentagon has requested only $2.7 billion.

The additional funds would not necessarily mean an increase in the $71.3 billion the Administration is seeking in defense appropriations for the coming year. The Armed Services Committee, which hopes to act on the $20.2 billion of that total which requires prior authorization, is expected to lop off enough money to make up the difference.

Nixon Strikes Bargain With Rivers on ABM

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has won Rep. L. Mendel Rivers' crucial support for expansion of the Safeguard Anti-ballistic Missile system by promising to accept an extra $300 million in spending for Navy shipbuilding, it was reported Friday.

The South Carolina Democrat, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, met privately with Nixon at the White House Monday. The two men, according to Capitol Hill sources, reached certain tacit understandings. Among them:

—Rivers would go along with Nixon's request to deploy Safeguard around a third intercontinental ballistic missile site. Without Rivers' endorsement, which he has threatened to withhold, the proposal

APOLLO MISSION FACTS, FIGURES

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Facts and Figures of the Apollo 13 mission:

ASTRONAUTS: Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., 42; civilian John L. Swigert Jr., 38; civilian Fred W. Haise Jr., 36.

PURPOSE: Man's third moon landing. Lovell and Haise are to descend to the rugged highlands of Fra Mauro on the eastern edge of the Ocean of Storms where they hope to find rocks dating back perhaps five billion years to the creation of the moon. They are to deploy a nuclear-powered science station and drill 10 feet beneath the surface.

LENGTH OF TIME ON MOON, 33½ hours, including 8-10 hours outside on the surface on two excursions.

NAMES OF SPACE SHIPS: Command ship, Odyssey; lunar module, Aquarius.

LIGHT DURATION: 10 days, 1 hour, 4 minutes.

ROCKET: Three-stage Saturn 5, which with Apollo 13 spaceship stands 363 feet tall. The world's most powerful rocket, with a first stage thrust of 7.6 million pounds.

COST OF MISSION: Saturn $185 million; command ship, $55 million; lunar module, $40 million; launch operations, including recovery operations, $70 million; scientific package, $25 million. Total $375 million.

APOLLO'S 'GO'

Haise and Thomas K. Mattingly II, to German measles. Because he had no immunity, Mattingly faced the danger of being disabled by the disease in space.

Lovell and Haise were immune, as was Swigert. Throughout the week, space agency officials considered postponing the mission, but decided to give Swigert a trial despite initial objections from mission commander Lovell, who wanted to keep his team intact.

LOVELL, HAISE and Mattingly had trained together for two years and were described as a superbly conditioned unit.

But Lovell agreed, and Swigert slipped into a spaceship simulator with Lovell and Haise on Thursday to practice critical maneuvers that require split-second timing by all three astronauts.

The suspense built Friday morning when NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine flew to Cape Kennedy to review the training and all other aspects of the flight.

After 2½ hours, including a half-hour private meeting with Lovell, Paine gave the go-ahead to continue the mission with Swigert moving into the center couch of the command module as its pilot.

"Our first decision was that we would not let Mattingly fly," Paine reported. "The rest of the meeting was devoted to the question of whether we could sub Swigert."

The recommendation was unanimous that Swigert be permitted to fly, Paine said.

"JIM LOVELL was particularly disappointed that Mattingly couldn't make the trip," Paine said. "Jim has a high professional regard for him, and of course it was therefore very difficult for him to accept the decision he would not be able to fly with the 13 mission after all the many months of preparation they had put in."

"But we didn't want to gamble, and Jim went along with our suggestion that Swigert be given a chance."

Later, Donald (Deke) Slayton, the astronauts' boss, said Lovell "feels very comfortable with Jack."

Describing the difficulty of moving a backup pilot into a well-drilled team, Slayton said:

"It was sort of like trying to put Glenn Miller into Tommy Dorsey's band. Both are great musicians, but each has a different style. They wouldn't play in Carnegie Hall without a rehearsal."

He said Swigert's rehearsal with Lovell and Haise went very smoothly.

While Mattingly watches from the sidelines, the new Apollo 13 prime crew will be heading for one of mankind's greatest adventures.

THEY ARE GOING in the name of science and they have chosen for their motto "E Luna, Scientia" — "From the Moon, Knowledge."

To seek that knowledge, Lovell and Haise will attempt the tricky landing Wednesday night at Fra Mauro, named for a 15th century Italian monk-cartographer.

"It will be a riskier landing than Apollo 11 and 12. We don't have much flat area to play with," said Lovell, the world's most traveled spaceman, who is taking his fourth flight.

"But the rewards should be well worth the attempt," he said.

"Scientists believe Fra Mauro harbors some of the oldest rocks on the moon, rocks that date back more than four billion years to the origin of both the moon and our solar system."

Lovell and Haise plan to spend 34 hours on the lunar surface. They hope to make two five-hour excursions to collect primitive rocks, set up a nuclear-powered science station, drill 10 feet into the lunar crust and trek nearly two miles on a geology field trip.

ONCE SEPARATED, the two ships will use the code names Odyssey for Swigert's command vessel and Aquarius for the lunar lander.

In photographs, Fra Mauro looks like a pilot's nightmare, with jagged ridges 8,000 feet high in the approach path. Geologists say it looks like a region of hills and ridges in northwestern Arizona and southern Nevada.

Lovell said Fra Mauro "has unique features from three basic age groups from which geologists date the moon. There is the early Imbrium, the Copernican and the Eratosthenian."

CAUSE OF IT ALL

Paul House, 2, of Houston, rides his toy horse while recovering from measles. Paul was coming down with them when astronaut Charles Duke spent a weekend at his home and was exposed. Duke in turn exposed astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly, Apollo 13 crewman, who was grounded, and had to be replaced by John L. Swigert.

WOULD RATHER FLY Swigert Swings in Bachelor Pad

By DARRELL MACK

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — John Leonard Swigert Jr., the emergency substitute member of the Apollo 13 crew, is a swinging bachelor with a playboy-type pad — but he would rather fly than play.

He has a bar complete with a beer spigot in the kitchen and an elaborate stereo in the living room next to a pair of chairs that Hugh Hefner must have recommended.

One chair is an off-white, fur-covered recliner wide enough for two cuddlers. The other is a bright orange, bucket-seat type called a "coffin chair."

THAT REFLECTS Jack Swigert, the most swinging of all the bachelor astronauts.

On the teakwood shelving above Swigert's stereo are models of jets and rockets. On a wall above the sectional sofa is a 2½-by-3½-foot oil painting of a dozen planes and a spacecraft that Swigert has flown during his test pilot days or is ready to fly now.

One of the biggest in the foreground of the painting is an Apollo command ship, Swigert's specialty. This is what he will fly if Apollo 13 gets off on schedule today.

Swigert, 38, a native of Denver, has been working with the command and service modules of the moonship ever since his test pilot days at North American Aviation Inc.

(now North American Rockwell Corp.) the company which built the craft.

Since becoming an astronaut in April 1966 Swigert, a civilian, has worked mostly with the command line-up and service modules. He was on the support team of the first Apollo crew before those astronauts were killed in the tragic Apollo 1 launch pad fire in 1967.

Swigert then became a member of the support crew for Apollo 7, the first manned Apollo flight, and was backup command module pilot on Apollo 13 until Thomas K. Mattingly was exposed to the German measles.

"I'd say he (Swigert) knows that command-service module better than anybody," a friend at North American said.

Swigert started flying at age 14 in Denver when he went to watch an older friend take a flying lesson.

HE ATTENDED the University of Colorado to play football and get a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. Next to flying, engineering became his first love.

After graduating in 1953, he became an Air Force fighter pilot and served a stint in Korea.

After he was discharged, Swigert served as a test pilot for Pratt Whitney and North American nine years and earned two master's degrees, one in aerospace science from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and one in business administration from the University of Hartford.

PRESIDENT TELEPHONES APOLLO 13

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon telephoned the Apollo 13 crew Friday night and "wished them well" on the eve of their moon flight launch.

Nixon told flight commander James A. Lovell he hoped their blast off weather would be better than that of Apollo 12.

On that launch, which Nixon watched in person, the rocket lifted off during a storm and was hit by lightning in the first few seconds of flight.

Nixon will be in Washington today but Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will attend along with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Recovery Carrier Gives Cheer

ABOARD USS IWO

JIMA (UPI) — Crew members of this Apollo 13 recovery carrier responded with loud cheers Friday to the decision to proceed toward a launch Saturday.

Some sailors were intrigued by the prospect of a visit to Australia in the event of a mission postponement.

But most of the crew apparently desired to accomplish the recovery on time so the ship can return to her home port, San Diego. The helicopter carrier was about 100 miles east of Pago Pago and 2,220 miles south of Hawaii when NASA gave the green light for backup astronaut John L. Swigert to substitute for measles-stricken Thomas K. Mattingly.

Lovell, Haise Face Toughest Approach

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Apollo 13 astronauts James A. Lovell and Fred W. Haise, making the toughest moon landing yet, plan to skim across the top of a finger-like rocky ridge that may be 400 feet high and drop to the floor of the valley just beyond it.

Lovell said they want to nestle so close to the ridge that they can hike over to it, scale its flanks and collect samples of rocks that scientists believe may prove to be the oldest material man has ever examined.

To make this feat of pinpoint navigation more certain, flight planners worked out first-of-a-kind procedures calling for the Apollo 13 command ship, Odyssey, to power-dive within nine miles of the moon with the landing craft Aquarius locked on its nose.

The maneuver, performed four hours after Apollo 13 enters an initial 198-by-89 mile lunar orbit, replaces a step that in past flights put both craft in a 69-mile-high circular orbit. From that point, in the past, the landing craft used its own descent engine to get down to the surface.

But this time the command ship will put both itself and the landing craft in a 9-by-69 mile orbit. It will be the closest an Apollo command ship has ever come to the moon, and leaves the landing craft only the final nine-mile descent to make on its own power 22 hours later.

After the lander unhooks to start on down, the command ship will return to its 69-mile-high orbit and wait for the lander to rejoin it.

Flight planners worked out the new maneuver to give Lovell's landing craft 14 more seconds fuel for hovering during the final moments of the landing. It also provides better navigation tracking so the craft can be targeted more precisely toward its valley target in the rugged and dangerous terrain.

To make sure he clears the ridge, which he says may be anywhere from 250 to 400 feet high, Lovell said he plans to come in a little high and then drop sharply to the valley floor.

Pinpoint navigation of this type was first demonstrated by Apollo 12, which licked moon orbit steering problems to land within easy walking distance of the old Surveyor 3 robot camera moonship.

SATELLITE KEEPS WEATHER EYE ON AN ELK IN WYOMING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The country's newest weather satellite, Nimbus 4, has taken the temperature of an elk in Wyoming and also measured for the first time a puzzling layer of the earth's weather-making upper atmosphere.

This was announced Friday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in a report on the Nimbus satellite which was launched April 8.

One of the Nimbus experiments is taking temperature measurements from the earth's surface through the stratosphere up to a distance of 40 miles. This region has been little investigated before.

The experiment was designed by Oxford University. Said Dr. E. J. Williamson of Oxford, "We are jubilant with the results. The University of Oxford began receiving weather temperature data within only two hours after the first readings were received at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center."

Nimbus 4 also has established contact with a female elk, named Monique, which was outfitted with a radio broadcasting collar a while back.

The satellite data showed that Monique's body temperature was 95 degrees at a time when the outside temperature at the Jackson, Wyo., elk refuge was about 40 degrees.

Navy Using Deep Quest in Channel Survey

United Press International

The research submarine Deep Quest started a 20 day ocean bottom survey for the Navy off Southern California's coast Friday.

The orange and white deep-diving vessel is to conduct a 10-day operation to examine a 1,500-foot-square area in the Santa Barbara Channel and survey a 15-mile cable route, Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., owner of the submersible, said in San Diego.

"A major Navy objective in the 20-day mission is to demonstrate the surveying capability of a completely instrumented manned submersible," Lockheed said.

"Information gathered from Deep Quest operations during the dives will also help the Navy refine operating techniques for underwater surveys," the firm said.

The square site was proposed for the Navy civil engineering laboratory's experimental Seacon habitat. The Seacon Project was proposed by the laboratory to research methods and tools for sea floor construction.

The site is under 600 feet of water, and the cable route to be surveyed stretches from a point 6,500 feet under water shoreward.

Working under a contract with the Naval oceanographic office, Deep Quest is provided with a subbottom profiler, sidescan sonar and a camera system to augment the vessel's normal operating systems, the announcement said.

Deep Quest's maximum operating depth was listed at 8,310 feet.

Lockheed's doppler sonar navigation system and Deep Quest's tracking system will be the primary surveying elements for the route survey, the company said.

Lockheed Deep Quest program manager P. E. Summers said information from the site survey will directly support the Seacon Project, while the area selected for the cable survey is not of immediate importance to the Navy. However, he said the techniques for the cable survey would "prove useful in future surveys."

SCHRADE AFTERMATH Judge Accepts Solon's Apology

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Lawrence Walsh apologized to a Superior Court judge Friday and was cleared of contempt in connection with his disclosure of secret grand jury testimony involving Sen. Jack Schrade.

"I wish to apologize to this court and to each and every member of the grand jury," Walsh said as he stood before Judge William A. White, "I'm sorry the remarks I made were taken as an affront by this court and members of the grand jury."

Walsh had testified before the grand jury in its investigation of a $5,000 campaign contribution to Senate leader Schrade. The panel found "insufficient evidence" to indict Schrade on a criminal charge.

White, who advised the grand jury during its hearings, ordered Walsh, D-Huntington Park, to explain why he should not be cited for contempt of court for talking to newsmen about his testimony.

THE JUDGE accepted Walsh's apology and told him no contempt proceedings would be brought.

"This court is satisfied Senator Walsh regrets his remarks and accepts his apologies," White said. "The senator is hereby purged of contempt."

The lawmaker told the judge his only reason for talking about his testimony before the grand jury was to "inform my constituents" about the probe.

Walsh had called the investigation a "waste of taxpayers' money." He said included in his testimony was discussion of a $1,000 campaign gift paid to him from the same special interest lobby which contributed to Schrade.

Walsh said his 1968 contribution was used to pay off a 1965 campaign debt. He is up for re-election this year.

BECAUSE of his comments, the judge threatened to hold him in contempt, which is punishable by up to five days in jail and a $500 fine.

Walsh appeared in court with his attorney, Herbert Jackson, who told White the lawmaker wished "to waive his legislative immunity."

"We hope this matter will be solved in as quick and expeditious a manner as possible," Jackson said.

He said his client has "the highest regard for this court and the grand jury," and then Walsh delivered his brief apology. The entire hearing lasted less than five minutes.

Asked afterwards his appraisal of the session, Walsh replied: "He (the judge) accepted my apologies and treated me very nicely."

Atom Wars Ruled Out by Resor

By BUCK LANIER
Military Affairs Editor

America's conventional forces in Europe will not undergo any fundamental changes "until at least July 1971," Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor told a Los Angeles press conference Friday.

The secretary, who later addressed the World Affairs Council in the Ambassador Hotel, also emphasized the U.S. and North American Treaty Organization goal of "extended reliance on conventional weaponry instead of the awesome might of our nuclear arsenal."

"IT IS BECOMING more apparent that in the future there will be limited wars only, in the sense of utilizing conventional weapons only," he said.

"The Soviet Union knows the consequences of a nuclear exchange as we well do," Resor said.

On Vietnam he said he was "well pleased" with the progress of Vietnamization and also termed the bombing of the three pronged Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos "a needed deterrent in preventing the North Vietnamese to infiltrate the south on those routes."

RESOR, WHO has served since April 5, 1965, said that "although U.S. deployments in Europe have been criticized, the critics at the same time say our NATO commitment is sound and valid."

He said that Russia would pay "a high price" to get U.S. forces out of Western Europe and that they should be made to do so.

The secretary added that a mutual, but not unilateral, reduction in forces would be a great step toward lasting peace.

"A unilateral reduction would decrease stability," he said.

L.A. OKs $8-Million Pay Hike

United Press International

Pay raises totaling $7.9 million were recommended for Los Angeles city employees by Administration Officer C. Erwin Piper Friday, but not all city employees were included in the increase.

The 2.75 per cent increase effective July 1, would be in addition to the 5.5 per cent raise which city employees have already received retroactive to Jan. 1.

The 9,400 city police and firemen would get the new raise, but less than half the nonuniformed employees would be included.

Professionals, city department heads, and employees of the mayor and City Council would get the raise, but clerical and custodial personnel would not. The city police and firemen, however, would still be earning less than their counterparts in the county.

Coupled with the 16.26 million retroactive raises already granted, the total increase would run over $24 million, not including $2.44 million in overtime to firemen and police.

City police presently earn $819 to $966. County officers are in the $842 to $992 range.

Southern States to Intervene in L.A. Integration Issue

United Press International

Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana were granted court permission Friday to intervene in the Los Angeles city schools integration case.

Atty. Gen. A. F. Summers of Mississippi, appearing on behalf of the three states, offered his personal services to the court to help implement an integration order in the city school system.

U.S. District Court Judge Alfred E. Gitelson ruled last Feb. 11 that the district was guilty of de jure segregation and set a deadline of September 1971 to integrate the more than 600 schools in the system. The decision is being appealed.

Summers said the three Southern states are experienced in dealing with such court orders and could lend their expertise to Los Angeles so it could integrate at the lowest possible cost.

Bayard F. Berman, representing the American Civil Liberties Union which filed the original case, argued that the friend of the court petition should be denied because it was historically accepted that Mississippi has opposed school integration.

"We can all learn something from another person," said Gitelson in overruling the objection.

School officials have said the only way to comply with Gitelson's integration guidelines is to institute mass busing, which would cost $40 million the first year and $180 million over eight years.

"We also have all kinds of plans for integration, some worked out by us and some worked out for us," Summers said.

LEGISLATIVE LAG WORRIES LEADERS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Legislature is headed toward the 14th week of the 1970 session without a sign of quickening the snail's pace which has characterized the year so far, and some legislative leaders are beginning to worry about it.

The Legislature faces a near record mountain of proposed new laws — 2,523 in the Assembly and 1,410 in the Senate, plus nearly 600 resolutions and constitutional amendments — but barely one-sixth have been acted upon by either house.

So far only 40 bills have passed both houses and been signed by the governor. By the end of last year's session, 1,655 of nearly 3,800 proposals were signed into law.

BUT IT ISN'T the small number of bills that has passed over the governor's desk that worries legislative leaders — this is about normal for this time of year. However, they are concerned by the day-after-day delay of controversial legislation.

The result could be a record-long session — something politicians want to avoid in an election year.

However, Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan says he will hold his house in session rather than allow repetition of the marathon closing sessions of previous years in which hundreds of bills were passed in one day, many of them in forms even their authors didn't understand.

SINCE the Legislature adopted annual sessions in 1967, it has not adjourned before Labor Day. Monagan still says he hopes for a July 15 adjournment this year, but he doesn't speak with much conviction on the subject.

There are numerous reasons for the slow pace.

Election campaigning has increased absenteeism, and few legislators want to take controversial bills either before committees or the full Senate or Assembly when the presence of little more than a quorum means they must win virtually every vote.

GARDENING

* * * * *

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Dahlia roots offer many years of gorgeous flowers in summer and fall. These offer cutting flowers as well as lots of color in the garden.

You can grow dahlias even if you live in an apartment. Grow a dahlia root in a square foot container for sunny areas.

Dig the hole for the dahlia root a shovel depth and width (approximately 11 inches deep and eight inches wide.) Put three inches of manure in the hole, scatter a tablespoonful of an 0-10-10 fertilizer over the manure, then dig it deeper into the hole and fill it with water. Set out the root several days later.

Fill four inches of plain soil into the hole. Be sure the dahlia root has an "eye" also called a "bud" or a "sprout." To sprout, it must have an eye at or near the top end of the dahlia root. Return it to the nursery if it lacks such an eye.

Nestle the root on the layer of plain soil, with the bottom end sloping downward. Hammer an inch square, five to six feet tall redwood stake beside the root. Cover the root with two inches of soil and water well. Gradually fill the soil in around the plant trunk as it grows taller.

DAHLIA ROOT planted in a container should have about an inch of manure in the bottom with a teaspoon of the 0-10-10 fertilizer sprinkled over it to which a three inch layer of slightly moistened plain soil should be added. The pompom dahlia won't grow as large and tall as the decorative or cactus flowered types. Set out the root the same way you would plant it in the ground.

The pompom dahlias in a wide range of showy colors resemble the "primavera" a cushion mum. This plant grows to about a foot high and foot-and-a-half across with pompom yellow flowers that literally smother the plant when in bloom. This is the only one that flowers twice and sometimes three times a year. Cut the faded lowers back into the secondary branches, feed it and three months later it flowers again.

This mum fits nicely in an annual or perennial flower bed, edging a walk, a driveway, in front of tall evergreen shrubs, in a narrow space between the garden wall and walk, or a house wall and driveway. It is a good pot plant specimen too.

You'll find young new mums at nurseries and garden shops in plant bands ready to plant in the garden. Select some that bloom early in the late summer season, some that flower later and the rest late in the year, even overlapping into the first of the next year! These mums flower but once annually, not like primavera mum.

Mums that haven't been dug up and divided yet, or replaced with new ones started from cuttings, should be dug, separated, and replanted. The young plants growing at the outer edge of the clump make the best so-called "Irish cuttings."

This means the young plants are pulled away from the outer area of the old clump. Many of them already have some roots on them. Cut them back to about six inches and replant them. Work some organic material into the soil, or into the holes where the young plants will be set out.

One of the fragrant shrubs that need attention this time of the year is the gardenia.

Gardenias should be fertilized. Gardener doesn't need to worry if about 20 to 30 per cent of the leaves turn yellow to orange color and drop off, so long as the balance of the foliage is a good green color. This is a natural condition which occurs twice a year, in the spring, and in the fall.

Garden Clinic

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

Question — I recently discovered the Bueno "cocktail" avocado in the local supermarket. They are green plum size, seedless avocados of excellent flavor. 1) Where are they grown? 2) How big is the tree? 3) Fruiting habit, time of year, etc.? 4) Method of propagation, as it is seedless? 5) Where are young trees available at nurseries? 6) Any other interesting information. Mrs. Shirley N. Gross.

ANSWER — Your six questions are answered by Dean Borton of Calavo Growers of California, Los Angeles office. "Bueno" avocado actually is a trade mark. They are cuke avocados not sufficiently developed on normal avocado trees due either to the nonpollination of the seed or to inadequate pollination. It is a delicacy some consider it a rarity, used as a cocktail avocado and in sandwiches.

JOBS TO DO NOW

Apply a stomach type insecticide dust to the soil when preparing it for planting, or when setting out young plants. This is done as a safety measure against stem borers in zinnias.

Now's the time to prune Chinese hibiscus. Cut them back as far as you want in order to shape them. When cutting, be sure to cut just above a leaf, a bud, or a side branch. Don't leave a stub that dies back down to the topmost bud below the cut.

Those small, bright, pink-flowering, coral-bell-like flowers in clusters that have burst forth all over the dark green foliage of shrubs about three feet high are raphiolepis, "Indian Hawthorne." It is a hardy shrub that grows well along the coast and inland, and is cold resistant down to zero degrees.

Drug Users Called Hysteria Targets

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

A drug education counselor with some unorthodox views on narcotics Friday said Americans have been pumped so full of misinformation on certain drugs that they've been driven to the point of hysteria in trying to cope with the problem.

In fact, drug users have become the targets of a "witch-hunt" as pernicious as the Red hunt of the 1950s, said Harry Richardson, vice president of the Do It Now Foundation of Los Angeles.

RICHARDSON was the main speaker in a drug abuse program sponsored by the Long Beach Community Planning Council in the Veterans Park clubhouse.

Part of his audience of 250 seemed sympathetic to his point of view, but a large segment — perhaps half — indicated its displeasure by applauding a person who challenged him from the audience.

Richardson, whose beard and shoulder-length hair stamped him as anti-establishment from the outset, indicated the extent of his unorthodoxy by declaring that most of what is said today about psychedelic drugs — that is, hallucinogens — is either misleading or false.

He said his organization refuses to put down psychedelics, claiming there isn't enough evidence to prove they are physically injurious — or beneficial — to their users.

THE FOUNDATION, which helps establish community drug programs, recently completed an eight-week program for the Paramount School District.

Richardson conceded some people can't handle hallucinogens; and, in response to a challenge from the floor, said the foundation doesn't claim that psychedelic drugs may not cause adverse effects.

Nonetheless, he added, the group's position on psychedelics is that of a neutral — neither encouraging nor discouraging their use.

"The foundation has no philosophy," he later elaborated. "We're go-betweens. We bring the underground (drug) experience to people." As for so-called hard drugs — speed, heroin, barbiturates — the foundation takes precisely the stand that others take. It is against them — although it doesn't agree with the "hard law-and-order stand" on drug taking.

"Putting people in jail hasn't worked for 30 years, he said.

Among other things, he said, the Do It Now Foundation advises youngsters and adults to be careful where they buy their psychedelic drugs.

"We tell them not to take street drugs," he said.

He later explained that by street drugs he meant drugs bought from an unknown or unreliable source, not necessarily those bought on the illicit market.

IN THE final analysis, said Richardson, the drug problem is merely the reflection of a social problem, which in turn is manifested by personal alienation, smog, strikes, pollution of waterways and a general breakdown of social institutions.

"Correct the social problem," he said, "and you'll solve the drug problem."

Also on the program were Mrs. Mary Gleason of the Psychiatric Clinic for Children; Mrs. Miriam Smith of the Learning Center, and Ron Lofstrom of the Free Clinic. The three gave brief descriptions of their respective drug abuse programs.

L.B. 'Y' Honors Workers

Leaders of the Greater Long Beach YMCA named a woman member of their board of directors, and a veteran of 50 year's youth work as their man and woman of the year.

Jo Ann Forman, newly elected secretary of the YMCA board, and Eugene Tinscher, a past member of the Y's national council, were honored with commemorative plaques at the organization's annual meeting at the Lafayette Hotel.

Local YMCA officers also presented 14 youth and distinguished service awards at the banquet ceremonies attended by nearly 300 civic dignitaries and YMCA workers.

John Hanna, Long Beach YMCA president, cited Mrs. Forman for her work in church and community groups as well as with the Los Altos Branch of the Y.

"She has been particularly active with the Y's Menettes," said Hanna, "and has also been a regional director of our international organization."

Tinscher was honored by Hanna for "over half a century of effective and outstanding YMCA leadership, done each year with devotion and dedication to the Y and its purposes."

A member of the local board of directors since 1923, Tinscher was also a founder of the Pacific Southwest Area YMCA council, and is a past president on the organization's area level.

Nine youths were also honored for their work at the various branches of the Long Beach YMCA.

Recipients of the Metropolitan Youth Awards included:

Marcelo Siero, downtown YMCA; Sheryl Schoneberger, Lakewood; Jose Lopez, Lakewood; Donna Ritchie, Los Altos; and Chris Edmonds, Los Altos.

Others cited were: Vickie Clementson, Los Cerritos; Wayne Clementson, Los Cerritos; Dean Gaither, North Community; and Betty Echert, North Community.

Five adults were also presented with mementos for their work with the youth organization. They included Paul Williams, a leader in camping services; Ted Caruthers, downtown branch; Norma Prickett, Lakewood; Leslie Humphries, Lakewood; and Roy Kitano, North Community.

Banquet speaker was Frederick V. Malek, deputy undersecretary of the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

UP TO SIMONSEN

CSLB to Rule on Professors

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Decision on the drawn-out controversy over two sociology professors at California State College at Long Beach who presented a nudes-and-film classroom lecture was delayed again Friday.

Administrators said they'd release a statement by acting President Donald Simonsen on Monday.

Dr. Simonsen was expected to rule Friday on a faculty hearing committee recommendation that Dr. Don Robertson and Prof. Marion Steele did not engage in "unprofessional conduct" and the charges against them should be dismissed.

Dr. Simonsen could agree with the committee or reject its recommendation. If he upholds the committee's findings, he could still be overruled by state college Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke.

The two teachers were suspended Jan. 13, and later placed on nonteaching reassignment, after they displayed nude models and showed films depicting sex acts in a lecture on "the myth of obscenity."

Alamitos Ranch to Hold Tours

Rancho Los Alamitos, the historical site and museum on the old Bixby Ranch, will be open for public tours from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, beginning today.

Dodents of Rancho Los Alamitos Associates, a group organized to administer the site, will conduct the tours. Membership in the associates is open to all interested citizens. Annual dues are $5 for regular membership, $1 for students, $25 to $50 for sponsors and $100 for patrons.

The rancho, located at the south end of Palo Verde Avenue on Bixby Hill, will be closed Mondays, Tuesdays and holidays. Museum hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Friday.

Queen of Pan American Festival

Clarice Godfrey, a 17-year-old Mayfair High School senior, has been selected as queen of the 24th annual Lakewood Pan American Festival. The brown-haired, blue-green-eyed queen, who stands 5-6, was chosen Thursday night from a field of 25 local girls to reign over the festival which starts Monday with the El Comienzo luncheon and honors the Republic of Chile.

'HEW Wants to Help Poor'

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

"We're in the business, really, of helping the poor." That premise is the strongest force behind sweeping revisions in Washington, said Frederick Malek, undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare, in a Long Beach speech Friday.

Along with the promise of a great challenge, the idea of helping the poor was another reason Malek said he joined "the team" of Sec. Robert Finch after becoming a highly successful businessman at age 32.

Malek addressed the annual meeting of the Greater YMCA in Long Beach Friday night on "The New Federalism — Making It Work."

He explained the concept of the new federalism in his department as a decentralization designed to "bring the government closer to the people."

IN AN EARLIER INTERVIEW, the West Point graduate explained that his department's decentralization involved total reassessment of the federal and regional HEW network.

With evaluation studies completed on only 50 of 260 programs conducted by the department, Malek added, vast cutbacks in the volume of paper work have already been made.

"But the main effort here is not to just cut red tape or reduce our employment," he said in the interview. "We're trying to give more control to the state and local levels."

"There have been other attempts at this in HEW, but what we are doing for the first time is to give it priority."

Malek, who is also a graduate of the Harvard Graduate Business School, said he was stunned by the amount of revision he saw necessary when he joined HEW as the resident management specialist after President Nixon was elected.

"It was like a kid going into a candy store," he said. "So many things to look at, there was so much room for improvement."

THE OFFICIAL SAID that now, after only partial completion of the planned revisions, "over 20 man years of state time have been freed and responses to grant applications can be effected in four to five weeks instead of six to eight months."

HEW, he said, is the major federal funding agency for poverty-fighting programs in the country. He noted that $16 billion of the department's $18-billion budget is allocated to grantee agencies.

Revision of the department, Malek said, will not be completed until "at least mid-1971," although some of the changes are already being felt.

"It is cutting it, but it isn't cutting it yet," at the level of the grantee agencies, local groups applying for funding, he said.

"At the state level, it should be felt fairly dramatically by this summer," he said. "But at the local level it will be later than that."

BY BLACK STUDIES UNIT

CSLB Senate Criticized

Members of the black studies department at California State College at Long Beach told the school's Academic (faculty) Senate Friday that the college administration was trying to "disrupt the orderly process" of their department.

Several senators charged that the blacks, who filed into the Senate Chambers demanding to be heard, were disrupting the proceedings of the Senate.

After an hour of frequently heated exchanges between senators and blacks, the meeting was adjourned without action being taken on the black studies problem or on regular agenda items.

The blacks asked the Senate for a blanket resolution supporting the black studies department.

"It would appear that sanction to create black studies on this campus did not carry with it a commitment to relevant education, but was a means of circumventing confrontation to delay for another time — now," said black studies Prof. John Calloway, who read a position paper prepared by his department's teachers.

TONY WILKINS, A BLACK STUDENTS UNION leader, said his group wouldn't leave "and we won't allow your proceedings to continue" until the Senate took action.

In a heated exchange with mechanical engineering Prof. Chester Kyle, Calloway and Wilkins told the Senate they were not making "threats."

In spite of crowded quarters and angry verbal exchanges, senators were not prevented from entering or leaving the Senate chambers.

About 30 blacks first filed in to the chambers during a minute of silence for the late Prof. S. Austen Reep, who died last week.

Calloway charged that the administration had taken "unwarranted issue" with recommendations for faculty reappointment by a department committee on retention, tenure appointment and promotion.

"The administration has alleged that our committee is not legal, the implication being that we are not qualified to evaluate what constitutes an adequate instructor for the black studies program," he said.

Administrators have maintained that the black studies faculty have not followed regular channels, or accepted suggestions for alternate channels, in submitting a list of next year's faculty for approval.

ACTING PRESIDENT DONALD H. SIMONSEN has warned that the department could be disbanded at the end of this academic year if the problem isn't resolved.

Although some sources say there is a serious rift between black students and black faculty in the department, Calloway said they work together in "harmonious partnership."

He said the department "seeks to continue the excellent example it has been demonstrating of student-faculty participation in the development of a meaningful educational program."

"It is no longer a question of whether it can work, but rather, whether it will be allowed to work," he said.

After an hour of increasingly heated debate, in which several persons were often talking at once, the senate adjourned. Arguments continued outside in the halls.

Julie Sommers' Eyes on Stardom

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The light years of difference between actress and "star" is a matter of magnitude.

Talent is inconsequential.

Cary Grant is a star. But he hasn't made a movie in three years. Marlon Brando is a star, but few people run to see his pictures.

ZSA ZSA GABOR is a star. But when was the last time you saw her on the screen?

On the other hand there is Julie Sommers.

She is a sprightly young actress who does not at this moment qualify as a star. Yet she works every day in a new and popular television show, "The Governor and J.J." She plays J.J.

More film has been exposed on Julie in the past year than on Zsa Zsa, Cary, Marlon and a dozen other "stars" in films or television.

Because Julie doesn't collect husbands, mink coats, diamonds or make outrageous statements on the Johnny Carson show she is deficient in star magnitude.

"Acting is a job," Julie said the other day.

But she aspires to stardom nonetheless.

"I got this role three years ago when Leonard

Stern, the producer, heard my voice on a 'Man From Uncle' show. He was in another room and came in to see what I looked like.

"HE THOUGHT my voice was distinctive. It's his belief that if your voice is imitable — if there is such a word — and you have style then you can be a star."

In that case Andy Devine and Phyllis Diller qualify as super stars.

"I'm serious," said Julie, who has widest brown eyes, a slender figure and an impish quality.

"Take Don Adams. People would recognize his voice anywhere — and Bette Davis, Lucille Ball, Jean Arthur, Katharine Hepburn and lots of others. Bogart and Edward G. Robinson are good examples. They were imitated and they were stars."

Zsa Zsa is imitated, too. If stardom is a harbinger of unemployment, however, Julie wants no part of the glamor aspects of acting. She prefers steady work.

"I DON'T THINK about the ratings or even look at them," Julie said. "They don't make sense to me anyhow. You do the best you can and hope the series is renewed."

"It's more important to me to get a lot of sleep than to sit up nights memorizing my lines. If you're bright and awake the next day you can make up your lines to fit the scene."

"I'm not very disciplined or dedicated."

"The main thing is to do a good job and not goof up anybody else in the cast."

Stardom can wait. Julie's working. Lots of stars are not.

110 IN THE SHADE

Ruth Johnson as Lizzie and Dick Johnson as Starbuck appear in a scene from the musical hit "110 in the Shade" currently playing at Jordan High School Auditorium. Final performances of the work, based on the play "The Rainmaker," will be today at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

O-La-La Era Ends; Paris House Shut

PARIS (AP) — The famed Olympia vaudeville house, where the strip-tease was invented, is closing May 10, owner-manager Bruno Coquatrix announced Thursday night. He said taxes are too high for him to keep the 80-year-old house open.

The theater on the Boulevard des Capucines has been host to such stars as La Goulue, La Belle Otero, Mistinguett, Maurice Chevalier, Edith Piaf and Charles Aznavour.

A sketch called "The Bride Goes to Bed," presented on the Olympia stage in 1895, is regarded as the beginning of the strip-tease.

Gale Sondergaard Comes Back From Blacklist Days

By BOB HOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Another film figure who came back from the blacklist: Gale Sondergaard.

The name conjures a flood of memories... the flashing-eyed beauty who won in 1936 the first Oscar presented to a supporting actress... the versatile actress who played everything from great men's wives to dragon ladies... the political activist who defied congressional investigators and hence wrote an end to her movie career.

MISS SONDERGAARD is back in films after a 21-year absence. She recently co-starred with Miriam Hopkins and John Garfield Jr. in a movie with the apt title of "Comeback." She has also played TV guest-star roles on "Get Smart" and "I Take a Thief."

Later this month she begins a three-year contract on a daytime drama for ABC, "The Best of Everything," based on the Rona Jaffe novel.

Miss Sondergaard was one of the last persons to return to active employment in films and television after the demise of the blacklist. She and her husband, director Herbert Biberman, had been named Communist party members in testimony before congressional committees. They quickly found studio doors closed to them.

"If you were named, you didn't work; it was as simple as that," she says.

SHE IS RELUCTANT to talk about those years, but she does comment that she has no regrets: "I never felt bitter about what happened. I felt that I had been a part of history, and that made me proud."

Her film career had started in 1936 with "Anthony Adverse," which won her the Oscar. She smiled as she recalled the character she played: "In the book the woman was the mistress of Adverse, but that wasn't allowed in those days. We got the idea across with merely a look. Not like movies today."

Somehow film buffs classify her as an oriental lady of quiet cruelty. "Yet I only played two orientals — in 'The Letter' and 'Anna and the King of Siam.' And few of my roles were cruel. I did play the whip-lashing sister in 'Seventh Heaven,' but then I followed that with Mrs. Zola and Empress Eugenio in 'Juarez.'"

"The Life of Emile Zola," in which she appeared with Paul Muni, was her favorite film. The Academy chose it best picture of 1937.

The Bibermans remained in Hollywood after the blacklist, raising their two children in the same large house they have lived in.

"I DON'T consider those were lost years," the actress said.

"Instead of being so busy with my career, I got to know my children. My husband and I learned how to live, one way or another; the struggle for a living can be an ennobling experience."

Needles Won't Be Painful

Long Beach anesthesiologists reported Friday how large needles can be inserted in the skin painlessly.

The technique employs a jet injector gun, a device ordinarily used to give mass immunization without employing a needle.

In the operating room, anesthesiologists are using the jet-injector to zap the skin with a local anesthetic, lidocaine (Xylocaine).

When the anesthetic strikes the skin, it deadens the area, also leaving a wheal, giving the doctor a mark where the needle is to be inserted.

NEEDLES more than one-eighth of an inch in diameter can be inserted, painlessly.

The technique may hold promise for application in a pediatrician's office for children who fear shots, a St. Mary's Hospital anesthesiologist said.

The shot of lidocaine from the injector gun makes a loud popping noise, so a child would have to be warned of the noise beforehand, the doctor noted.

But a needle injected after such a preparatory treatment would cause no pain, the doctor said.

Burglars Strip Sail from Boat

Burglars smashed a bolt on the cabin door of a 23-foot sailboat owned by Stuart M. Kepenek, of Pasadena, while it was moored at Slip 79, at Land's End Marina, 1835 W. Seventh St., and took a sail worth $350, Long Beach police said Friday.

Mottell's offers distinction without extravagance . . .

The classical Mosaic, "ADORATION of the SHEPHERDS" which distinguishes the chancel of Mottell's Chapel is a re-creation of the El Greco 16th. century original. Its 15'x11' surface contains over 200,000 hand placed Venetian Glass Tiles covering the entire color spectrum.

The chancel itself is an architectural form dating back to early monastic structures, describing a recessed area reserved for clergy during their conduct of religious services.

Noted for traditionally fine service since 1909, Mottell's is continually striving to sustain the confidence of our friends. The beauty and dignity of Mottell's reflect consideration and respect for those whom we are privileged to serve.

DR. KRISHNA MANVI CHECKS PATIENT The Helmet's a Metabolic Rate Monitor

TO MEASURE OXYGEN Heart Patients Wear a Helmet

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

It looks like a space helmet — and in a way it is. Only this device deals with a portion of inner space, the often-mysterious regions inside the human body.

The helmet is part of special equipment known as a metabolic rate monitor, and the monitor's job is to measure the oxygen demands of a patient with coronary heart disease.

One is now being used in medical research at Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.

The patient being studied wears the plastic helmet over his face while walking on an electric treadmill. As the patient breathes, the equipment assesses his oxygen utilization.

DR. KRISHNA MANVI, a fellow in cardiology in charge of the research, says current investigations are directed toward establishing normal ranges of oxygen consumption for given amounts of exertion in both the person with a healthy heart and one with coronary heart disease.

Dr. Manvi says the equipment can also be used to assess the effects of coronary artery surgery, to check on patients undergoing coronary rehabilitation programs and to compare treadmill testing with the Master two-step test (a stair-climbing technique).

Metabolic rate monitors are also slated to be used in research at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Northrop Aircraft Corp., McDonnell Douglas Corp., UCLA Medical Center and Olive View Hospital, according to a manufacturer's spokesman.

Raymond Gillingham, president of Memorial and Children's Medical Center Foundation, says that Memorial Hospital is the first hospital in the country to order the monitor to measure oxygen consumption of persons performing controlled exercise.

BELLFLOWER WOMAN WILL SEE MOON SHOT

Miss Frances Nordine, 9662 Foster Rd., Bellflower, is one of four employees of Downey's North American Rockwell Space Division selected to see the launch of Apollo 13.

Miss Nordine is at Cape Kennedy, as a guest of the division to see the launch from the VIP viewing stand. She also will tour Kennedy Space Center and attend a reception with officials and astronauts from the NASA. Miss Nordine was selected for her outstanding work on the Apollo program.

The nation's leading producer of hardware for manned space flight, the NRA Space Division builds Apollo command and service modules which carry the astronauts to and from the moon, and the second stage of Saturn V lunar launch vehicles.

TELLS WHY IHM NUNS WENT OWN WAY 'We Remain Women of Faith... and Hopefully of Vision'

This is the concluding section of an article by Sister Beverly Galyean, IHM, of Long Beach, explaining the purpose and thinking behind the decision of the majority of the Immaculate Heart of Mary sisters to form a new lay community, dedicated to service, and remaining within the Roman Catholic Church. We welcome brief comments.)

By SISTER BEVERLY GALYEAN, IHM

In giving birth to a new style of living, we took many risks and suffered through much tension. But we deeply believe that, through the tension of living the questions and suffering through the uncertainty actually living out the answers, truth will arise from our coming together and listening to ourselves and others.

It is interesting to note that the movement toward making religious communities fully communicative to its contemporary world parallels a similar movement to make the Church herself better able to dialogue with her people. Throughout history, Christianity has lost its sense of the human and has emphasized the divine aspects of religion. We preserved the divine so much so that our message was falling on deaf ears — those who could only understand in human terms. Christianity was speaking a foreign language and needed to learn the language of its people, and this process of re-learning is taking much time and patience, and certainly is making mistakes in the process.

THUS, WE are now in the period of travail caused by the lessons of Vatican II. But we really have no reason to fear, for we have Christ's promise: "Fear not for I am with you." Thus, we continue to listen to one another, to read, to study, to pray, and to constantly create the Christian community that speaks the language of its people. And since language forms change, so must our communities ever be ready for change. But the message is the same! GOD LOVES US! Let's therefore, come together and celebrate life. Let's encourage one another, as Paul suggests, for in coming together, we are somehow strengthened and encouraged and renewed to do an even better job the next time around.

There is another aspect of Christianity, of people in general that had to be considered in our re-creating of community. Man is not only formed by his past and rooted in his present, he is also looking toward the future. Every present moment is also the beginning of a future moment. There is much talk about the "new generation," yet we are very much unsatisfied with the present and constantly look toward the creation of a better future. We are, by our free choosing, constantly creating our world and always making it become. When we regard man in his eschatological (future oriented) sense, it makes our theology of hope seem much more relevant.

The problem we have had to contend with in the re-creating of religious communities today is how to incorporate this eschatological mode into our new life styles. Each of us has the charism of dreams and visions within the Church, but how to realize them to their fullest extent? We recognize that life is not only something imposed on us by our past history; it is, rather, men shaping themselves and their destinies for the future which is ever coming upon us. Christ himself said: "Now you go and continue my work." The church-world is in our hands and we have the message of love to communicate. The present is always incomplete and it is our task to see the visions and dream the dreams of the future — not an easy task at that!

What is taking place in communities and in Christianity is a grand awakening to the dawn of the age ing to dream things which are not, creating them to be. Christ asked faith for His miracles. People had to dream that His power could shatter the permanency and the restrictiveness of the present moment, and dare to cause "things to happen." To the ordinary man, only the present is possible. To the Christian, miracles of new life shattering the barriers of our time-bound world, happen every day, because Christians dream and work to make these dreams be realized. Is this what Christ meant at the Last Supper when He told the apostles that they would have the power to work even greater miracles that He had during his time on earth? The question we are asking ourselves in both communities and in the Church at large is how we can have a structure that gives all of its members enough freedom to create and to dream. Most institutions are rooted in the past and greatly restrict visions for the future. They place limiting norms on men's hopes, making impossible dreams really impossible. Yet Christ made dreams a reality by not letting Himself be solely rooted in the past and present. His miracles were a symbolical representation of what can happen when we wish and believe.

We are not looking for a static life style that will work forever; rather we are seeking (and this means constant study, dialogue, prayer, and celebrating too!) what forms individuals and groups need in order to be able to live in and speak to the larger community of the world. The key is not to seek for a system that works; we already have that in Christ. We are searching to find how our communities can be ever open ended and in continual dialogue with the present world. Our "forms" depend on the collective dreams of each member

NEW PASTOR AT LAKEWOOD 1ST BAPTIST

Bringing the 'Teaching Ministry' Back to Life

By LES RODNEY

"Why, this is nothing but a glorified Bible class!" That was the reaction of one person to a sermon by the new pastor at First Baptist Church of Lakewood.

Rev. Dr. James A. Borrer smiled as he told of the remark. It wasn't for him to add that the overwhelming majority of the congregation finds his emphasis in a teaching ministry not only instructive, but highly exciting. Ray Anderson, business administrator of the bustling 1,800-plus-member church at 5336 Arbor Road, supplied that fact.

"His sermons truly attract and hold people of all age groups. They are enthusiastic."

Dr. Borrer was called to the local pastorate this January, filling a vacancy during which the church patiently sought the man it wanted. Pastor and church seem to be well met.

"I LIKE this area very much from what I have seen," the 36-year-old minister said this week in an interview. "Long Beach gives more of a feeling of an independent city, with a city's cultural life and opportunities for growth, than I had expected."

A native West Virginian, he came here via ministries in Dallas and in Scottsdale, Ariz. There is nothing very new, he says, in the concept of a teaching ministry. It is what the Bible calls for, the way of Jesus and the Apostles.

"Paul stressed it to the Ephesians, in fact pastor-teaching is one word in Greek."

"My approach at Arizona Bible College was

102nd Anniversary

First United Methodist Church of Compton will observe its 102nd anniversary Sunday, the first in its present location at 1025 S. Long Beach Blvd. Founded on "the second Sabbath in April," April 12, 1868, the Compton Methodist Episcopal Church, as it was then named, was organized by some of the same pioneers who formed the original settlement of Compton in the fall of 1867. G. D. Compton, for whom the town was named, was one of the first trustees of the church.

DR. JAMES A. BORRER
Nothing More 'Relevant' Than Bible

called sermonic teaching. This is in contrast to the totally inspirational type of preaching."

Borrer uses visual aids, via an overhead projector, during Wednesday night Bible study, and occasionally in his Sunday sermons.

All the inspiration one could want, he holds, is in the Bible, if it is grasped and projected with imagination.

"I don't have to make the Bible relevant," he says. "It is already relevant. As one teaches the word of God, it will transform people's lives. What could be more relevant?"

The young-looking minister describes himself as "fundamentalist in theology."

"That is," he explains, "I teach the Bible as the Word of God. In general outlook, however, I prefer to stress the positive, not to make a major point of attacking others."

THIS OUTLOOK also determines Dr. Borrer's feeling that a church's main concern should be outward into the community, rather than a self-satisfied inner collection of negative "don'ts."

Asked about the historic Baptist opposition to dancing, for example, he said:

"Let's say I don't place such things at the center of our work. If a person is rightly related to Jesus, I have confidence his or her lized toward this end, he believes.

Though ordained as a Baptist, Dr. Borrer was called to the Long Beach church from an independent, non-denominational church, and he says this tells something of First Baptist's broad evangelical outlook.

He finds the congregation well educated, lively, with good standards of music, and encompassing more age ranges than the typical church of 1970.

Particularly, those often termed most difficult for the church to reach—the young marrieds in their 20s—are well represented.

"This church has done a better job in reaching this group than any I know," he said. "I'm impressed by the large number of young teachers, young professional workers." He smiled. "I think some are attracted just by the numbers of that age group already in the church!"

The youthful-looking Dr. Borrer feels he's in "a good spot to be a liaison man between generations."

IF THERE is any area of potential pull-and-tug in First Baptist of Lakewood, it might be between generations, specifically around what kind of music is acceptable. And what else is new?

"We've had our young people offer folk rock music," the pastor said. "I would say the line is drawn at hard rock. Folk and rock, the problem is to find the right line between them."

He is very much for this young generation, within the limits of respect for the rights of others, and non-violence.

"I think there is more to be admired in this generation than in my own silent generation. A better sense of priorities and values. I'm all for zeal as a good starting point. We can work with that."

Dr. Borrer now lives in the area with his wife, Norma and two children, 9 and 5. Folks at First Baptist of Lakewood expect they'll be around a while.

Resurrection Was Physical Fact, Pontiff Emphasizes

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI said this week the resurrection of Christ was a physical fact, not a symbol or a myth.

Addressing 50 theologians and biblical scholars attending a Rome symposium on the resurrection, the pontiff said it was understandable that men should doubt such a supernatural event. The first doubter, he said, was the apostle Thomas.

But the Pope quoted from St. Paul's letter to the Corinthians: "If Christ has not risen . . . vain is then our faith."

"Even today we see this tendency (to doubt) reach its dramatic last consequences, to the point where believers who call themselves Christians have come to deny the historical value of inspired testimony or, more recently, to interpret the physical resurrection of Jesus in a purely mythical, spiritual or moral way," the Pope said.

"But, we proclaim it forcefully, we are watching all this without fear, because, today like yesterday, the testimony of the eleven (apostles) and of their companions is capable, with the help of the Holy Spirit, of arousing true faith."

The Pope did not mention the theory of a Zurich-based foundation that Christ was still alive when taken down from the cross. The theory, which a Vatican expert shrugged off last month as "fantastic," is based on an interpretation of blood stains on a piece of cloth in which tradition says Christ's body was wrapped.

GOINGS ON

Must Think Big for Big Results

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There is a fact of life that none of us can escape and it is this: We become, to a very large degree, what we think. Think little, believe little, act little, and the results will be little. If, on the contrary, you think big, believe big, act big, the results will be big.

Sombody lent me a book the other day that told about great moments in American sports. It described some of the most thrilling incidents in football and baseball over the years. One story brought to mind an electric moment in sports history. It was a World Series game between the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs. The series was all tied up and this particular game was tied, 4 to 4. A player was on base for the Yankees and there were two outs.

THE PITCHER for the Chicago Cubs set himself to deal with the next Yankee coming to bat. It was the greatest batter in the history of the sport. His name was Babe Ruth. I had the thrill of seeing him play many times. A stocky man, he was actually poetry in motion. Harmony and rhythm were revealed in all of his movements.

Earlier in this particular game Babe Ruth had hit a home run and at that time it was considered inconceivable that any batter could hit two home runs in a World Series game. So the pitcher wasn't too worried. He put a hard, fast ball across the plate right in the strike zone. Ruth swung and missed. The pitcher went into his wind-up and zipped a curve across the plate. As it sizzled by, Ruth went after it, and he missed again.

The crowd was aghast. Was Ruth, like the infamous Casey at the bat, about to strike out? But Ruth was relaxed. He walked slowly around the plate. He pounded his bat on the ground. Then he walked up to the plate and pointed his finger directly over the right field fence. It was Ruth's way of telling the Chicago pitcher that that was where he intended to hit the next pitch. The pitcher went into a rage. He wound up, and with all of his skill and force, he hurled the ball toward the plate. The next thing he heard was the crack of Ruth's bat and the ball sailed in a line precisely to the spot pointed out by the great Babe. A perfect home run.

Later on a sports writer asked Ruth about that moment. He said, "What if you hadn't hit that ball after signaling where it was going to go?" A look of astonishment passed over the Babe's face. "Not hit it?" Ruth said, "Why I never even thought of such a thing." That is precisely the reason why he did hit it.

THE CONCEPT of impossibility never even occurred to Babe Ruth. He thought big. He believed big. And because of that, he acted big. He saw himself hitting that ball. He figured out how he was going to swing at it. And the rest is history.

NLB VOLUNTEERS AT WORK

EXPERIMENTAL PROJECT Church Youth 'Add a Room' for Indians

Young people of North Long Beach Presbyterian Church will report to the congregation Sunday on a pioneering project during their third annual Easter week volunteer trip to Tuba City, Ariz.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington is testing whether volunteers can successfully add a room to the mostly one-room huts in which Indian families now live.

The Long Beach volunteers, mostly senior high school age, with a few adults, led by Rev. H. William Dummer, assistant pastor, just about finished the job in their seven days. If approved in Washington, Dummer says, groups of young people will be cleared to help the Navajos build second rooms during the summer.

The room, built by a task force from among the 24-person party, immediately doubled the size of the family's house, noted the minister. Half of the church youngsters who went were new at the Easter mission work, and half were repeaters. "All were enthusiastic," Dummer says.

The young people bring sleeping bags and each pay $10, which covers about half the cost of the trip, the rest being raised.

SISTER EXPLAINS

responding to the world as she (or he) envisions it. Whatever forms we choose, they must arise from and speak to the people of their own times. Christ chose parables which spoke clearly to the people of His age and we choose our own words which speak to us and to our world. His "Come and watch with me one hour" is hardly distinguishable in meaning from our "I Get By With A Little Help From My Friends." His "You will even perform works greater than mine" goes along nicely with our "Dream the Impossible Dream." And how meaningful His "where two or three are gathered together in My name, there I am" is in relation to our "No Man Is an Island."

And so, friends, I delight in being able to share with you the birth of our new life style, our "renovated community. It is exciting to be a creator, to look around, to love, and to love what you see, then to respond wholeheartedly to it. God loves us dearly! We are, each of us, infinitely valuable just because we are we. But somehow we are better able to recognize our own beauty, our own worth, in those times of coming together and celebrating the eternal WE, Christ, you and me!

Yes! There are risks and challenges to be faced. But this is all part of our Christian commitment to faith, for faith always implies some doubts. And through it all, we remain women of faith and hopefulness of vision. We are coming together to share and to celebrate this marvelous life that is ours as Christians. Yes! We have come a long way. Hopefully, our becoming and coming along will continue until it has reached its final stage of evolution in the perfect community of the Father.

'MORE IMPORTANT THINGS TO DO' Liberal Adventist Prof Hits Anti-Evolution Talk

A University of California anthropologist and controversial liberal Seventh-day Adventist layman has called upon the leadership of his denomination to "take the Seventh-day Adventist Church out of the business of making pronouncements on the subject of evolution."

Speaking before the Burbank Chapter of the Association of Adventist Forums, Dr. R. Ervin Taylor, 32, assistant professor of anthropology at UC-Riverside charged his denomination with 'theological and intellectual myopia for continuing to, as a church organization, publish pronouncements on a subject which, in today's world, has little, if any, essential religious significance.'

Dr. Taylor, a lay elder at the Burbank Church of Seventh-day Adventists and executive editor of Perspective, an Adventist laymen's journal, has been a leading critic of elements which he charges are retarding the modernizing and updating of his denomination.

Dr. Taylor noted that: "In its early history, it was probably appropriate for our denomination to adopt a strong anti-evolutionary point of view in its teaching. This view was commonly held by many Protestant churches in America in the 19th and early 20th century. Today, however, our church — hopefully — has more important things to accomplish and more meaningful ways to expend its funds than to continue — as a church — to publish books and pamphlets opposing evolution."

"If individual Seventh-day Adventists wish to believe or not to believe in evolution, this certainly is their right but official church pronouncements and material published by denominationally controlled press intended for distribution among the general public should be restricted to those areas where the church is supposed to exercise expertise — in the areas of orals and ethics."

Covenant Festival Will Hear Mission Leaders

"Mission Festival" gets under way Wednesday evening at Covenant Presbyterian Church, Third and Atlantic, with a 6:15 dinner program featuring Dr. Ralph Winter, professor of mission at Fuller Theological Seminary, and leading Presbyterian mission educator in Guatemala for 10 years before that.

Reservations are required for the low-budget dinner, ($1.25 adults, 75 cents for children under 12, $3 maximum a family) but are not needed for the program at 7.

Apollo 13 Flight Coverage Slated

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Regular broadcasts will be preempted this morning and throughout next week for coverage of the Apollo 13 flight, assuming the lift-off takes place as scheduled for 11:13 a.m. today.

Networks will be on the air prior to the lift-off with programs and remain on the air until approximately noon to cover the event. Throughout the 10-day mission principal events will be carried on special programs and on regular newscasts.

Recovery of the three-man crew is scheduled for Tuesday, April 14, at 12:16 p.m., in the Pacific.

FOLLOWING is the schedule of principal events to be covered, based on the ABC (Ch. 7) listing:

Following lift-off, an on-board TV transmission is set for 2:45 to 3:15 p.m. when the lunar module is extracted from the Saturn rocket's fourth stage.

Monday, April 13—On-board television as the crew checks out the LM, approximately 9:15 to 9:45 p.m.

Wednesday, April 15—LM touchdown on moon, scheduled for 6:55 p.m. First lunar moon walk, 11 p.m. with coverage ending 3:30 a.m., Thursday.

Thursday, April 16—Second moonwalk, to start at 7 p.m., is expected to last about four hours.

Friday, April 17—Life-off from lunar surface is scheduled for 4:22 a.m.

Tuesday, April 21—Splashdown is expected at 12:15 p.m.

Detailed day by day coverage of the events scheduled for TV will be found in the daily TV logs.

(UPI) — More than 15,000 manufacturers, designers and buyers attended the opening of the spring southern furniture market Friday.

Bruce Kerr tells of the young man who began, (as most people do), to gain weight after his 30th birthday. Upon becoming 28 pounds heavier, than he had been, he began getting dizzy spells, seeing spots before his eyes and hearing a ringing in his ears!

After seeing a specialist to whom he described these symptoms, the Doctor, (whose policy was calling a spade a spade), told him he had the rare Turely's disease — for which there is no cure, and gave him 2 weeks to live!

With an understandably heavy heart, the young man proceeded to make his own funeral arrangements and went to see about a complete new wardrobe in which to make his untimely departure.

As the clerk pulled out a box containing a size 17 white shirt, the distraught purchaser protested that he'd been wearing size 16 for years. "Well," replied the experienced clerk, "I'll sell it to you if you insist — but it'll be so tight around your neck — you'll get dizzy spells, see spots before your eyes and hear a ringing in your ears!"

Dodgers' Backward Streak Hits Four

Our Worst Exhibition of Baseball—Alston

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

It was early Friday afternoon and the Dodger manager, Walter Alston, was relaxed and smiling as he previewed a television show at a local TV station.

The show had to do with the Dodgers and was put together in Florida during spring training when the club was hitting and fielding and winning.

Alston watched the flood of base hits on the TV screen and then, recalling the three consecutive losses to Cincinnati to start the regular season, turned

DODGER OF DAY

Wes Parker drove in his first run of the season with his first hit of the season in the 7-2 loss to San Diego.

to Dodger vice president Al Campanis and remarked: "Is that the same team I've been looking at the last three nights?"

Nothing that followed eased Alston's pain. Friday night at Dodger Stadium the San Diego Padres stretched the Dodgers' losing string to four, winning 7-2, before 14,365 disgruntled fans. The last time the Dodgers lost four in a row to start a season was in 1967 when they wound up in eighth place.

The first part of the week, when the Reds were sweeping, the names were Rose and Bench, Nolan and McGlothlin. Friday night it was Colbert and Roberts, and you begin to see why Alston no longer is smiling.

The Dodgers contributed two fielding mishaps, and the manager snapped: "It's the worst exhibition of baseball at Dodger Stadium in a long, long time."

First it was the hitting that was absent. Now it's the hitting and the fielding. The pitching wasn't overpowering either.

Alan Foster, making his first bid to land the No. 4 spot in the starting rotation, was hammered for nine hits and seven runs (six earned) and was gone by the sixth inning.

A four-run first inning, highlighted by Nate Colbert's second home run of the season, a two-run blast that wound up in the center-field seats, got the Padres started.

The Dodgers countered with two unearned runs in the bottom of the first. When they had the makings of a rally started in the second, skipper Preston Gomez called in young Dave Roberts, a lefthander whose total major league experience consisted of 22 innings and a 0-3 won-lost record.

Roberts threw one pitch to Willie Davis who grounded into a quick doubleplay and the lefty didn't allow another Dodger aboard until the eighth, retiring 18 Dodgers in a row.

The Dodgers' errors contributed and so did a couple of other defensive mishaps that didn't go as errors but still drew the wrath of the manager.

"There's no excuse whatsoever for two guys running into each other on a ball, either one of them can catch," Alston said, referring to a play in which Davis and Andy Kosco collided with Davis hanging onto the ball. "And that other play (when Kosco and Wes Parker ran into one another, with the ball falling for a double), I thought that ball should've been caught."

"We'll also let Bill Sudakis catch another game since they're throwing a lefthander," Alston said. Suds, in his major league catching debut after the conversion from third base, didn't enjoy a spotless game. In San Diego's four-run first inning

UCLA HOPES SOAR, LAND 6-11 WALTON

SAN DIEGO (U) — UCLA's Bruins, the national collegiate basketball champions the past four years, have landed another great prospect, 6-foot, 11-inch Bill Walton.

The star player for Helix High School, hailed by many as the greatest high school basketball player in San Diego history, telephoned coach John Wooden to say he planned to attend UCLA.

Informed of this, assistant coach Gary Cunningham asserted, "We consider Bill one of the finest players in the country."

Walton has been selected to try out for the United States team which will play in the World Basketball Championships next month in Yugoslavia.

IS THIS CALLED LATERAL LAP HAZARD?

Everyone got a good chuckle out of R. H. Sikes' predicament on 18th green at Masters golf tournament, except perhaps Sikes. His approach landed in lap of spectator. Officials gave golfer free drop, and Sikes chipped onto green and got par.

FOREIGNERS MAKE GREATEST GAINS Littler, Yancey Share Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U) — Gene Littler and Bert Yancey swept into a tie for the second round lead at 139 in the Masters golf tournament Friday, but it was a couple of diminutive foreigners who made the greatest gains on the tough Augusta National layout.

The veteran Littler and Yancey, who was slapped with a $150 fine for an improper withdrawal from a tournament last week, had two-under-par 70s as they moved past scrambling first-day leader Tommy Aaron.

Aaron, who had an opening 68, lost four strokes to par on the first four holes, but rallied coming home and finished with a 74 for 142, three strokes off the pace.

Burly Bob Lunn, with a

70, and steady Billy Casper, 68, were tied for third, one shot off the pace in their quest for the famed green jacket that goes to the winner of this, the first of the world's four major championships.

But it was little Gary Player and even smaller Takaaki Kono who did the best job of solving the famed, hilly course that snapped back at such giants of the game as Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Player, the crewcut South African who has been the focal point of intense security precautions at this staid, old club, cut four strokes off par with a 68 for a tie with Aaron at 142.

"I played famously," said Player, the subject of rumored threats because of his nation's racial policies, "but I putted miserably. I could have been three shots better if I'd putted."

Kono, a tiny Japanese, also had a 68 and barged into contention at 141. Kono was five under par going into the last hole, but three-putted for his third bogey. He had seven birdies, including all four par fives.

Most of the leaders said the course, which is suffering from a long, hard winter, played easier Friday than in Thursday's windy opening round.

"I looked for some real good scores today," said the 39-year-old Littler, playing in his 17th Masters.

"The greens held much better today," said Casper. "There seemed to have been some water put on them."

But the fairways still were patchy on the usually lush layout and the greens remained very fast.

Jack Nicklaus, the Golden Bear from Ohio and the man picked by many to win this one, took a horrendous eight on the eighth hole and finished

Angels in Heaven: 3-0

By DON MERRY
Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — "Yes," Sandy Alomar nodded in response to an interrogator, "this team is for real."

"Last year there was no spirit or hustle. We were hesitating. This year we are hitting and running and it's a lot more fun."

ANGEL OF DAY

ROGER REPOZ cracked two-run homer, singled and walked twice as Angels won third in row, 11-7 over Kansas City.

The Angels, the worst hitting team in the American League last season, continued their happy parade of hit, hit, hit, run, run, run, and score, score, score Friday night, lathered six Kansas City pitchers for 11 runs and 14 hits in a wild 11-7 victory — their third in succession in the infant season.

"I think it's a combination of things," manager Lefty Phillips theorized. "Bill Voss and Jim Spencer have arrived as hitters and Pete Reiser's influence on base running has been clearly evident. They are starting to take chances and become daring. You have to do that if you want to win. Be aggressive, that's the idea."

Friday, the Angels continued to resemble the Third Reich in its early stages by knocking down everything in sight, and again it was another balanced attack. No Angel collected more than three hits and none scored more than two runs as each member of the starting unit collected at least one hit.

After three games, the Angels have piled up 29 runs and 40 hits and possess a team batting average of .357. It's a little bit staggering and a trifle difficult to comprehend.

"I think the Dodger series may have had something to do with it," Phillips said. "They beat us three in a row by taking advantage of our mistakes. The players realized this and now they are starting to take advantage of the opposition's mistakes."

The Angels built a 9-1 lead after five innings but the Royals, another team not especially renowned for its hitting, got to start- er Clyde Wright for three runs in the sixth and pushed over three unearned runs in the seventh after an error by Jim Fregosi set the stage.

But tight relief pitching by Mel Queen prevented Lefty from a sleepless night.

Wright, who could win only one game last year, was not ecstatic after working six innings but there was a broad smile creasing his face.

"I hadn't pitched in 16 days so I wasn't as sharp as I would like but I was getting the ball over and that was the important thing," Wright offered. "I was happy to go six but I hate to see a guy come out of the bullpen with such a big lead."

"I just may have to ask them to double my salary when I win my next one," he concluded with a wry

YANCEY CONFESSES BOLTING TOURNNEY

Combined News Services

AUGUSTA, Ga. — "It's probably one of the worst things I've ever done," Bert Yancey said Friday after confessing he pulled out of a golf tournament last week without authorization.

Yancey had just explained his second subpar round in the 34th Masters golf tournament when he declared at a news conference that he left the Greater Greensboro Open after firing a first round 78 so he could work on his putting at the Augusta National Club.

"At first, I heard I was going to be suspended," he said. "I have an appointment to talk with Joe Dey about it after this interview."

Dey, commissioner of the tournament players' division of the PGA, said Yancey was routinely fined $150 but no disciplinary action would be taken against him.

"It's healthy that he got up and confessed this," Dey said.

Compounding Yancey's problem was another fact. He used to be a West Pointer and anybody who ever enters West Point has to live by the "honor code" — meaning he can not lie or even quibble. He must tell the absolute truth. Bert Yancey still lives the honor code. He doesn't lie.

Yancey left Greensboro on a technicality — by turning in an unsigned scorecard after his round. He said he had talked with tournament sponsors about it before leaving the course.

"I don't think anyone should leave a tournament like that," Yancey said.

Yancey stared at the floor as he made his confession at length.

"I feel very badly about it," he said. "I've never before withdrawn unless I was physically unable to continue. I'll never do it again."

AN OFF-ON DAY

Friday was not a day like all days for Bert Yancey. He throws up hands (above) after missing putt in Masters tournament. He was fined $150 after confessing that he dropped out of Greensboro tourney last week in order to practice for Masters. But he shares second-round lead.

Lancers, Poly Log Lopsided Wins

PLIGHT OF THE 49ERS

Cal State Long Beach's Steve Liebeck, caught in traffic jam, is eventually tagged out by San Diego State shortstop Ralph Nasif to complete first-inning double play. Following his RBI single, Liebeck thought Jim Carter's chopper off plate was pop fly and headed back to first. Aztec players helping direct traffic are second baseman Moses Hidalgo (6) and first baseman Steve Abbey (11).

EXTRA BASE HITS CONTRIBUTE TO 4-2 WIN

Cal State Makes Aztecs Eat Words

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

As Cal State Long Beach's Jim Martinez led off Friday's Blair Field encounter with San Diego

State, the Aztec bench yelled to its defense, "All they can do is punt."
"We like the reputation," a relaxed coach John Gonsalves reported after five extra base hits had contributed heavily to a 4-2 Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. victory.

"It helps us," explained Gonsalves. "They play in on us and it opens up the alleys. Then I want the kids to hit the ball into the open areas."

San Diego led, 1-0, scoring a run on Ray Brown's balk, when Martinez came to bat and the bench offered its advice.

After fouling off a bunt attempt, the little shortstop doubled to right field. Jim Seida followed an out later with a triple to tie the score and Steve Liebeck made it 2-1 two pitches later with a single.

Limited to eight singles by winner Brown and reliever Tim Brady, the Aztecs, who dropped their seventh game in a row, tied the score in the sixth on a single, two-base throwing error by Brown and a fielder's choice.

The 49ers avoided disaster that inning when catcher Larry Bailey threw out an Aztec on a steal attempt and Seida gloved a line drive for an inning-ending double play with two men on base.

Cal State got the runs back in the bottom of the inning when pinch-hitter Mike Lewis, up from the junior varsity, lined a single to left to drive in Liebeck and Jim Carter with two out.

"I thought the kids played pretty well," lauded Gonsalves, "especially on defense."

In that department, the top 49er was centerfielder Dave Demarest.

Demarest made two brilliant plays, making a running, over-the-head catch of a 380-foot drive by Ralph Nasif in the third inning, and getting a force-out with two runners on and one out in the eighth when he decoyed an Aztec base runner into believing a single to center was a routine fly ball.

John Keisler and Bruce Cooke will pitch for the 49ers today in a noon doubleheader with the Aztecs in San Diego.

Pius X Posts 5-3 Conquest of Saints

By RICK ARTHUR

Mike Sonsma pitched four innings in relief of Ed Bourgeois and Dave O'Neill drove in one of Pius X's two earned runs to lead the Warriors past St. Anthony 5-3 Friday afternoon.

Sonsma relieved Bourgeois in the third inning after the Saints had touched the starter for one run on four walks and had the bases loaded. Sonsma stopped the rally.

Pius X scored twice in the second inning and twice in the fifth inning to win.

St. Anthony pushed across two runs in the fifth inning when Larry McCoy singled in Steve Capic and Ray Lowman scored on an error.

Rams Move to 3rd; Lederer Nabs 5th

It was easy going Friday for both Lakewood and Poly High. They enjoyed one-sided wins to maintain a share of first place in the Moore League baseball race.

In the second game of a night doubleheader at Blair Field, Millikan took over third place by handing Wilson's Bill Buskirk his first setback of the season, 3-1.

The wins by Lakewood and Poly set the stage for their showdown next Wednesday.

Tom Lederer became the league's first five-game winner by blanking

El Rancho on three hits through six innings en route to Lakewood's 7-0 victory in the opener.

The Lancers scored at least once in every inning but the sixth. Losing pitcher Larry Anderson was victimized by four errors and also helped his own downfall by wild pitching home two runs and letting another score on a balk.

Scott Stevens drove in two runs for the winners. His long double in a three-run third inning broke the game open.

Buskirk faced a minimum of 12 batters through the first four innings of the nightcap before Millikan broke through for six hits and all three of its runs in the next two innings off the big righty.

Craig Tye doubled to lead off the fifth, went to third on a bloop single by Scott Ward and then scored on another single by Tim Marshall.

Buskirk eventually got out of that jam by retiring Dave Frost and Steve Derian with the bases loaded.

WASHINGTON (P) — The American Basketball Assn. has agreed to pay $11 million indemnity to the National Basketball Assn. in the forthcoming merger of the leagues, the Washington Post said in its Saturday edition.

In a report from Pittsburgh, Post writer Mark Asher said the NBA had been hoping to get $1 million each from the ABA's 11 teams since merger talks began last August. The money will be paid out over 10 years.

The ABA had hoped to sign Pete Maravich of Louisiana State and thereby bring down the price, the story said. But Maravich has signed with the NBA's Atlanta Hawks.

the bases with none out in the sixth. Ward drove in one run with the bases loaded and Bill Fenoglio drew a walk off relief pitcher Chuck Ross who had come in from right field, to account for the third tally.

Frost, a loser in relief Wednesday to Poly, was nixed for an unearned run in the first, then remained in control the rest of the way. The Bruins never had more than one runner on base after the first when Cass Ditzler singled home John Hund.

In an afternoon game at Houghton Park, Poly scored eight times in the third inning and went on to rout Jordan, 12-2.

Muscular George Ambrow slammed a triple, home run and single to drive in four runs. Glen Ogawa ran his record to 4-0 by going the distance. Ambrow's homer in the fourth was inside the park.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Joe Mooney

What was the greatest start ever made by a rookie in his first game in big league history? ... Bob Nieman hit home runs HIS FIRST TWO TIMES UP in the majors ... Nobody else ever made a start like that ... Nieman achieved this feat when he broke in with the old St. Louis Browns in 1951.

Do you know if any big league baseball team has ever been able to stay in first place EVERY DAY from Opening Day till the end of the season? ... Only two teams in history accomplished this ... They were the 1923 Giants, and the 1927 Yankees.

I bet you didn't know that Tom O'Shanter, "the goller's Scotch," is now imported for you at a truly sporting price — the blazest Scotch bargain in California.

TAM O'SHANTER Scotch Whisky $5.69 4 1/2 oz.

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today! You begin to develop more skills in your work. Advancement is promised for the near future, according to your persistence and tact in seeking more action, some life, romantic ventures now fit within the general context of a career effort and thrive well.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): This is an excellent day for going over family situations, agreeing on what is to be done and who is to do it.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Take your share in the community expression of faith, then get around to renew acquaintances. There is news of relatives and some success in their ventures.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): It may surprise you to learn how much you can do to cheer up older people and those who've been neglected. Lay aside the cares and concerns of the week past; relax. Keep life as simple as possible until evening, then either your wits about you and set for an active week coming up.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 22): Helpful knowledge comes your way today if you are doing your best to make life happy for your own set of people. Being a good sport — a genial loser or a gracious winner — will bring more satisfying triangles.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Wherever today's favorable climate to smooth you have a difference of opinion, use everything out. You are now free to do quite a bit of exploring of new pastimes, diversions, acquaintances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Put concerns over money and material benefits out of your mind and relax. It's a fun sort of day to be with people you like. If you must do something, set out your accounts and correspondence and line up everything to suit you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Secret hopes come a great deal closer to fulfillment this cheerful Sunday. Friends are very helpful. Move about; rather happy thoughts as you go.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Now that certain stress has run its course and you have begun to catch your balance, let up and enjoy life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Find something new to do — a puzzle or other intellectual challenge. Go on a discovery trip to see how much you can notice about your neighborhood. Think over matters you take for granted which might interest a stranger.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stay away from making any serious decisions now. Do what your family and community have come to expect of you during the day. The evening lends itself to sentimental turnings.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): This Sunday promises to be one that you have set to yourself to do pretty much as you like. Settle on a definite idea, then gather appropriate supplies and equipment. And the day with a feeling of accomplishment.

Park Huntington: New Prestige Address

Park Huntington, a 557-lot development, is a new grand-scale project of S & S Construction Company, a division of Shapell Industries, Inc., and is located in the modern, smog-free City of Huntington Beach. The one and two-story homes allow a maximum of versatility with a choice of from three to six bedrooms and up to 3½ baths as well as two-and three-car garages. Formal dining rooms and spacious family rooms fulfill entertainment requirements on the most casual or elegant level. The optional bonus room offers space for hobby pursuits or can be transformed into two bedrooms for a growing family. Natural wood-burning fireplaces, with an optional stop-down conversation pit becomes the focal point of living room atmosphere.

All-electric kitchens are equipped with automatic dishwasher, built-in double ovens and range and luminous ceilings.

IN THE tradition of quality building, all S & S Construction homes are built with genuine lath and plaster.

Other extras include wall to wall luxury carpeting, underground utilities, abundant closet space, concrete driveways and many, many other features.

The fast growing City of Huntington Beach is located in the center of Southern California's recreational capital — minutes away from the longest stretch of beach in Southern California, providing casual, coastal living away from the hustle and bustle of big city life.

DISNEYLAND, Knott's Berry Farm, Marineland of the Pacific, Port of Call, Catalina, Newport, Laguna and Anaheim Stadium are just a few of the multitude of entertainment ventures close at hand.

Gracious living in Park Huntington is enhanced by the sunny summer sunshine all year 'round.

Some of the best sailing and fishing in California is found in these coastal waters. There are three golf courses within the city and several private courses in nearby communities.

Shopping centers offer the most modern, convenient shopping available anywhere, with landscaped malls and abundant parking to satisfy every desire.

Thirty-five elementary schools, three high schools and four two-year colleges and universities provide higher education for the area.

Park Huntington offers a sound investment for those who enjoy outdoor living at its best.

Homes are priced from $29,900. Take the San Diego Freeway to Brookhurst, go south to Park Huntington.

AREA GETS EXPRESSION OF CONFIDENCE

Routh Building Heralded at Long Beach Airport

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

Opening of the Routh Office Building at 4340 Donald Douglas Drive this week marks the completion of the first stage of what the developer terms a $3 million expression of confidence in the future of Long Beach Airport.

Construction of two more 10,000-square-foot, two-story office buildings of the same type and a three-story theme structure for aviation-oriented firms will begin within a few weeks, according to James N. Routh, a fixed-base operator at the airport for 21 years.

Routh's master plan for the business and light industry complex on more than seven acres between Lakewood Boulevard and the airport terminal calls for nine separate structures, including aircraft hangars on an adjacent taxi strip and a convention center serving the nearby Rochelle's motel and restaurant.

"I BELIEVE THE AIRPORT will continue to progress in all phases of business in spite of the current official city policy of discouraging growth," said Routh, the innovator of aerial fire-fighting techniques and developer of a variety of aviation enterprises.

"Eventually Long Beach will gain the additional airline service it needs and the commercial benefits this will bring."

The first building in the Routh complex sets an attractive tenor for the entire project with a lavish use of glass in a masonry and steel frame. Architect Richard O. Prior of Long Beach has shaded the entire south window wall with an aluminum solar screen which does not obstruct the view.

Interior partitions are laminated vinyl drywall with integral colors to complement natural wood paneling and provide minimal maintenance demands.

The building is carpeted throughout for continuity of decor.

THE OFFICE STRUCTURE has been recognized by the Southern California Edison Co. as an "all-electric award building."

Acoustical ceilings are accented by a suspended panel system for maximum sound absorption.

Initial tenants include the business offices for Flight Test Research, Inc., moving from present headquarters on the west side of the airport, Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.'s Southern California central credit department, and the developer's company offices, also moving from west airport facilities.

Tri-Cor Completes Two More Buildings

Tri-Cor, Inc., of Long Beach, has completed construction on a building on top of a building, plus a yacht building.

The first structure, which was built atop the eight-story Torrance Municipal Hospital at 3330 Lomita Blvd., Torrance, is being used to house heavy equipment.

The $20,000 enclosure houses the hospital's elevator equipment, as well as machinery for the heating, ventilating and air conditioning systems.

Designed by Clatworthy and Verge for the Kemp Bros. Construction Co., the building measures 26 by 100 and has an eave height of 16 feet.

TRI-COR also has completed construction of a storage and assembly building for Enterprise Yachts, 2500 S. Susan St., Santa Ana.

The new facility is unique in that it does not feature end walls. It measures 24 by 98.

Lindsey Plastics Manufacturing Co., which builds Enterprise Yachts, places a value of $7,000 on the new structure.

Tri-Cor is a franchised builder of Pascoe Steel Corp., a nationwide firm in the metal building industry.

R. W. Fenn Elected to Post at Cosmodyne

Election of Richard W. Fenn as vice president, long range planning, for The Cosmodyne Corporation, Torrance, was announced by John J. Connolly, board chairman and chief executive officer.

In the newly created position, Fenn will be responsible for planning Cosmodyne's future growth areas, and for the direction of the corporate research and development activity.

Prior to joining Cosmodyne, he had been director of the Airborne Warning and Control System program office at Data Systems Division, Litton Industries.

FENN was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1947 and received the James Sturges Willis and Veterans of Foreign Wars awards for academic achievement. He also received a bachelor's degree in electronic engineering and a master's degree in management, both from the Naval Post Graduate School.

He retired from the Navy in 1969 after being selected for the rank of captain.

Fenn resides in Northridge.

Cosmodyne is principally engaged in the fields of cryogenic systems, environmental pollution control, helicopter services and leisure-time products.

Signal-Landmark to Open Mobile Home Community

TWO RECREATIONAL CENTER BUILDINGS . . . Planned At Mobile Home Site

Special to the Progress Section

Construction on the new 230-space adult "mobidental" community of Huntington Shorecliffs in Huntington Beach is being completed for a scheduled early May opening by Signal-Landmark, Inc., a subsidiary of the Signal Companies of Los Angeles.

The park marks the firm's first in a series of planned mobile home living developments, according to Bob McIntosh, who heads Signal-Landmark's multiple home division.

Construction is nearing completion on two recreational center buildings and slab pads for the mobile units have been prepared.

HUNTINGTON'S Shorecliffs, a joint venture by Signal-Landmark, Inc. and the American Hawaiian Steamship Company, is located less than a mile from the ocean on Beach Boulevard, just south of Indianapolis Avenue and adjacent to 10 miles of white public beaches.

Monthly space rates for the park will be approximately $85 to $115 relative to the lot size.

Included in the recreation centers will be large swimming pools, heated therapeutic whirlpools, billiard rooms, card rooms, shuffleboard courts and social facility areas.

HUNTINGTON Shorecliffs will have gas, water, twice-weekly refuse pickup and cable television all included in the rental price. Storage space will also be available for boats, campers and trailers.

In addition to rental spaces for the homes, Signal-Landmark will display mobile homes on an adjoining model site, said director of marketing, Bob James.

Huntington Shorecliffs rentals will be handled by the Capital Development Company.

B of A Economists See Food Price Rise Slowing

By ROBERT HECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

Economists of the world's largest bank — Bank of America — painted a bit of silver lining on the dark clouds of inflation this week.

They predict a "dramatic slowing in food price growth over the next few months."

And:
"By year end, the problems of inflation and restricted credit availability still will be with us, but in much reduced degree."

In explanation:
"Food prices, which have increased dramatically in the last few months, will slow down . . . this will help slow the annual rate of consumer price growth to near 4 per cent by year end, compared with 8.6 per cent during the fourth quarter of 1969."

B of A economists say there is no reason to fear that the "inflationary psychology of the past few years will be replaced by a recessionary psychology" and they propose a long-range plan to combat inflation.

"In a fully employed economy, inflation can be controlled by strategic action providing incentives to stimulate individuals to produce more. This will go further toward restoring balanced economic growth than the current tactical reactions to inflation of demands for higher pay which push the economy one step higher up the inflationary ladder."

SEES SLIGHT DIP

A local economic decline of slightly more than 2 per cent during the past two months has been reported by L. H. Showalter, vice president and manager of Security Pacific National Bank's Long Beach Office.

Decreased business activity has been reflected in most recent seasonally adjusted statistics for employment, unemployment, construction, real estate activity and department store sales.

Running contrary to the downward trend are February and March increases in total spending, as reflected by bank debits (total dollar volume of checks written).

Despite its decline during the past two months, the Southern California economy remains 6.9 per cent stronger than it was a year ago. Building and real estate activity, however, are weaker now than a year ago, Showalter said.

RENTERS HAVE EDGE

Inflation favored renters over home owners during the 1960's, according to a study released by Property Research Corporation.

Apartment rents went up less than 23 per cent in nine of 10 cities analyzed, while the cost of home ownership rose from 27 to 47 per cent.

Renters in Houston had the smallest average increases over the decade, while Chicago remained the most expensive city for apartment-dwellers.

Los Angeles was near the bottom of the list, in eighth place, both in 1960 and 1969. The largest increases in rent levels over the 1960's, as well as in home ownership costs, occurred in San Francisco and Seattle.

The fact that rents are a comparative bargain means there is room for increase. This could encourage future apartment investment, the study suggests, since it is becoming difficult to justify investment on the basis of current rent levels.

The slow rise in rents is related to several factors. One is the contrast in availability of land. In developing areas single-family lots become scarcer and more expensive until the supply is gone.

But new apartment sites can always be obtained by leveling older single-family homes.

'CANNED' HOUSING?

Before the year 2000, the house you live in may come in a can of liquid and a roll of fabric — and be inflated like a balloon.

And by the end of this decade, everything from your drinking water and the pools your children swim in, to the garage you park your car in and acre-size farms will be protected by air-supported domes.

That's the prediction of Gordon B. Holcombe, of the Industrial Covers group, Pico Division of Sargent Industries, San Francisco.

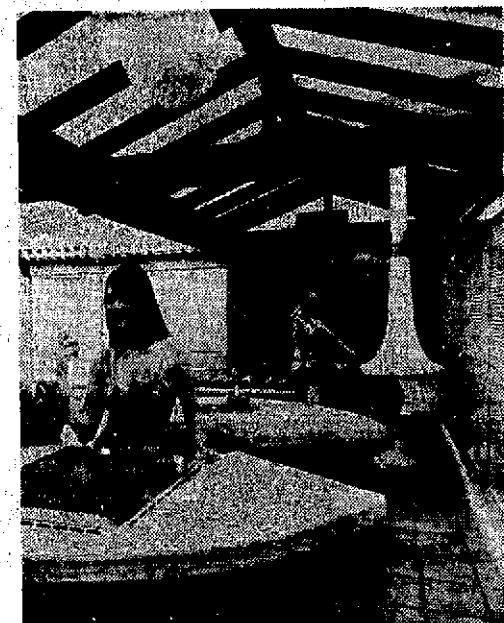

He is a pioneer in the design and construction of buildings utilizing coated fabrics — such as nylon, dacron or glass fibers — that are air-inflated, or stressed by cables or other mechanical means.

With major technological breakthroughs making construction fabrics long-lasting, durable, and more versatile than such rigid materials as iron or steel, this is what Mr. Holcombe forecasts:

By the end of this century — in less than 30 years — low cost, "air inflated" houses will be in widespread use.

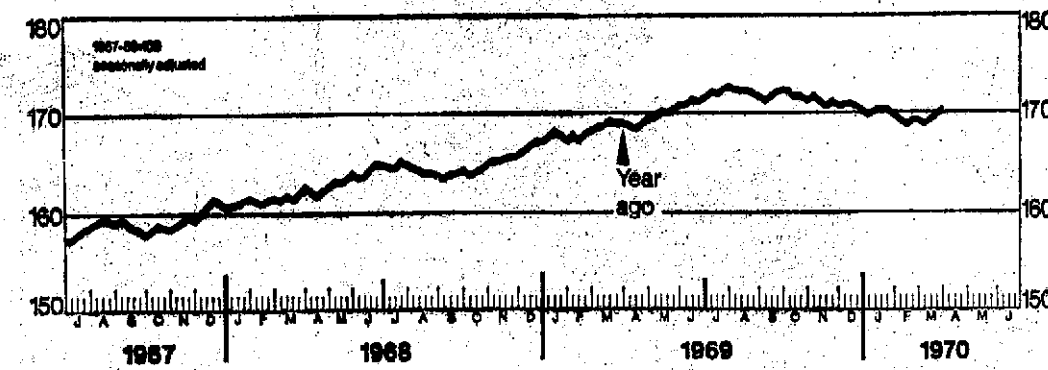

Constructed of highly decorative fabric, structurally supported by air from their own air conditioning systems, possibly made rigid by an extra coating of self-hardening liquid sprayed from a can, these air houses will be: easily assembled, easily divided into large rooms — with windows, lighting and insulation — and will last for 50 years or more.

Estimated cost of a 3,000-square foot air house, with a year-round interior garden: $10,000 at current market prices.

Steel, Auto Production Ups Index

Gains in steel and auto production combined to pull the index 0.2 per cent above a week ago.

Despite the Good Friday holiday, auto output gained a healthy 4.0 per cent in the current week. Auto makers are still proceeding with a cautious work schedule until sales make considerable gains.

Crude oil refinery runs rose 3.1 per cent, electric power output was up 2.7 per cent, reflecting, in part, the lengthened pre-Easter store hours.

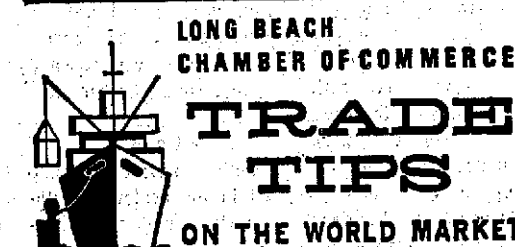

Miscellaneous carloadings inched 0.2 per cent, electric power output was up 2.7 per cent, reflecting, in part, the lengthened pre-Easter store hours.

Miscellaneous carloadings inched 0.2 per cent ahead, all other carloadings gained 0.4 per cent, and intercity truck tonnage lost 1.0 per cent—in face of a pending, nation-wide truckers strike.

Paperboard production, down 4.9 per cent from a year ago, lost 0.4 per cent in the current week.

Los Altos Sale Begins

The 66 businesses and services of the Los Altos Shopping Center have launched their annual month-long anniversary sale.

This weekend, Willie the Clown will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. throughout the shopping center to entertain youngsters and to pass out balloon animals.

The Los Altos Shopping Center was one of the five original centers in California.

Because it was erected in three stages — from the early 1950s to the 1960s — no exact anniversary designation is made, according to Travis Montgomery, executive director of the Los Altos Businessmen's Association.

Tramway Traffic Mounting

O. L. McKenney, general manager of the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway, announced March was the second highest traffic month in the history of the Tramway as 38,775 passengers rode the world-famous Aerial Tramway to the 8,516-foot Mountain Station.

The only other month that surpasses March 1970 was April 1965. The tramway was then running from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. The tramway now runs from 10 a.m. until 7:30 p.m.

McKENNEY also stated that during the recent Easter holiday period traffic was up 28 per cent over the previous Easter Week.

He credited the success of the month to the Easter Week planning by Palm Springs city officials.

Wall Street Briefs

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lone Star Cement Corp. and Century Management & Development Co. announced they will build shopping and apartment house complex on a 25-acre tract here owned by Lone Star.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Chatillon-Macrodyn Corp.'s Hardman Aerospace subsidiary has obtained a $4.5 million contract from American Airlines for seating in 25 McDonnell Douglas DC-10 tri-jet airliners.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Duval Corp., mining subsidiary of Pennzoil United, Inc., said it has halted sulphur production at the Orchard Mine near Rosenberg, Tex., and at Fort Stockton, Tex., and will step up output at the Culberson Mine near Pecos, Tex., where costs are lower.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — RCA Corp. said it will close five of its consumer products plants in Indiana for the two weeks from April 13 to 24 to adjust inventories. In addition the consumer products plant at Memphis will be closed for the same period.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Trans-World Airlines has agreed to buy four Boeing 747 super airliners from Eastern Airlines that are due to be delivered in 1972, for a total of about $78 million. TWA will save $12 million compared with buying the planes directly from Boeing, while Eastern will use the big airliners for an agreed period before turning them over to TWA.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sharp decline in consumer confidence was reported in the National Industrial Conference's Board's latest survey of the consumer buying mood. Twenty per cent of the families queried reported jobs are hard to get compared with only 14 per cent a year ago. Only 22 per cent of the 10,000 families queried for the conference board by National Family Opinion, Inc., said business conditions are good. A year ago, 35 per cent said business was good and seventeen per cent said things are getting worse compared with 9 per cent a year ago.

WEST PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) — Suburb Publishers, Inc., has agreed to buy S. A. Peck Co. of Chicago, one of the largest quality jewelry mail order marketers in the country with sales of more than $3 million a year, for cash and stock.

MUSTANG MILANO... New From Ford

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

Mustang Milano, new from Ford Division, is an ultra violet-colored, two passenger grand touring car featuring low, racy design and a tailgate that raises electrically.

Highly modified from a 1970 Mustang SportsRoof, this Ford Division show car is named for Milan, Italy, where a number of sporty touring cars make their way through the countryside.

Only 43 inches high, Milano is more than seven inches lower than a standard Mustang SportsRoof. The headlamps and high-powered driving lights are concealed when not in use.

The hood contains NASA-type air scoops for power-producing ram-air induction. The windshield is steeply raked to a 67 degree angle.

The uniquely-designed rear deck lid, complete with built-in air spoiler, is similar to tailgates on some European station wagons. Hinged at the top, the deck lid and backlite open electrically just above the taillights to provide generous accessibility to the luggage compartment.

LACED CAST ALUMINUM WHEELS are similar to but stronger than classic wire wheels used on grand touring cars of the 1920s and 1930s. Wide tread F60 x 15 tires were designed and built by Firestone especially for this Mustang show car.

Milano's ultra violet paint is color-keyed to the car's interior. The high-back bucket seats have blue-violet fabric inserts and light purple leather trim. Deep purple mohair carpet adds to the luxury look.

The carpeted rear area of this two seater carries color-keyed luggage fabricated from the same leather used in the seat trim.

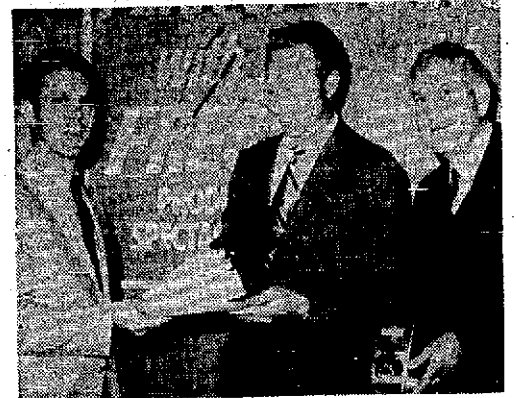

Mustang Milano is one of five special Ford Division show cars created by the Ford Motor Company Design Center in Dearborn, Michigan, for 1970 auto shows.

RETAIL DELIVERY OF NEW CARS in Chrysler-Plymouth Division's Western Area increased by nearly 8 per cent in March, 1970, over the same period a year ago, Rhodes Vawter, area sales manager, reported.

Vawter said this sales increase — the first month-to-month improvement for the Western Area this year — was sparked by a 199 per cent increase in sales of the compact Valiant-Duster line.

"This increase gives everybody a big boost. We're especially pleased by the strong performance of our new Duster and Barracuda models," Vawter said.

Sales for the Plymouth car line increased by nearly 19 per cent this March over a year ago.

Immediate Occupancy at Sol Vista-Fountain Valley

Immediate occupancy as early as June 1 has been a prime factor in sales of the Sol Vista-Fountain Valley homes located at 16300 Magnolia Ave., according to Al Solomon, president of Alco-Pacific Construction Co., Inc.

The third unit of the planned 350-home development, consisting of 55 homes, is now nearing completion.

Ranging in price from $32,950, the homes are situated adjacent to the San Diego Freeway and two minutes from the Garden Grove Freeway.

Five completely new and decorator-appointed models are open daily for inspection. Living areas in the Sol Vista homes range to 2,270 square feet and can be individually finished by the homebuyer during the final building phase.

A TOTAL of 17 distinctive exterior elevations have been incorporated into the designs of the residential dwellings.

In addition, exteriors are highlighted by decorative wooden garage doors and shake, shingle or tile roofs.

Spacious expanses are evident to the homebuyer upon entrance to Sol Vista-Fountain Valley homes. Huge step-down family rooms and large living rooms, completely separated from the formal dining areas, are provided in the stylish designs.

Two of the models feature sloping cathedral ceilings and massive floor-to-ceiling fireplaces of rich brick, stone or concrete. Double-arms-width doorways are typical in the homes as are huge closets and spacious master baths.

IN OTHER models, a spacious five-foot by three-foot shower adds to the appeal of the master suite bath. A convenient dressing or relaxing bench has also been built into the shower.

A second unique feature of Sol Vista-Fountain Valley is the 17-foot by 33-foot "idea" room. This residential innovation is a massive game and family room which can be converted into two or three additional bedrooms if desired.

Retail and service stores are located immediately adjacent to the new community and major shopping complexes are within five minutes driving time.

Sol Vista-Fountain Valley homes can be reached via the Magnolia off-ramp of the San Diego Freeway, traveling north. From the Garden Grove Freeway, take Magnolia south.

L.B. Chamber Group Tour of Orient Productive

Twenty-one days sounds like a long time to live out of a suitcase — but not if you are touring Japan, Taiwan and Hong Kong.

For 76 members of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Expo 70 delegation the trip is represented by hundreds of mementos, lists of new Oriental friends and memories enough to last a lifetime.

The delegation — or representative groups on some occasions — met and dined with civic officials in cities from Tokyo to the heart of Taiwan. They learned of the native accomplishments and plans for the future, told them of ours.

Long Beach men and women visited factories, inspected harbors and port facilities and admired the craftsmanship of patient, artistic hands.

The tour, which had all the pre-departure symptoms of becoming hectic — was as smooth as glass, thanks to excellent planning by Japan Air Lines and efficiency of the Japan Travel Bureau.

DR. JOHN HARRIS, Lillian Crawford and Elsie Benwell sample giant cups of tea during graceful tea ceremony witnessed at Yokaichi, during reception sponsored by Long Beach's sister city.

MRS. DON BOWERS delivers a word of thanks to Yokaichi, Japan hosts—in their language. Surprised Japanese then profusely thanked her. She is ringed by Yokaichi Chamber President Monjiro Kuki, native girls and Long Beach Chamber President Hanawalt.

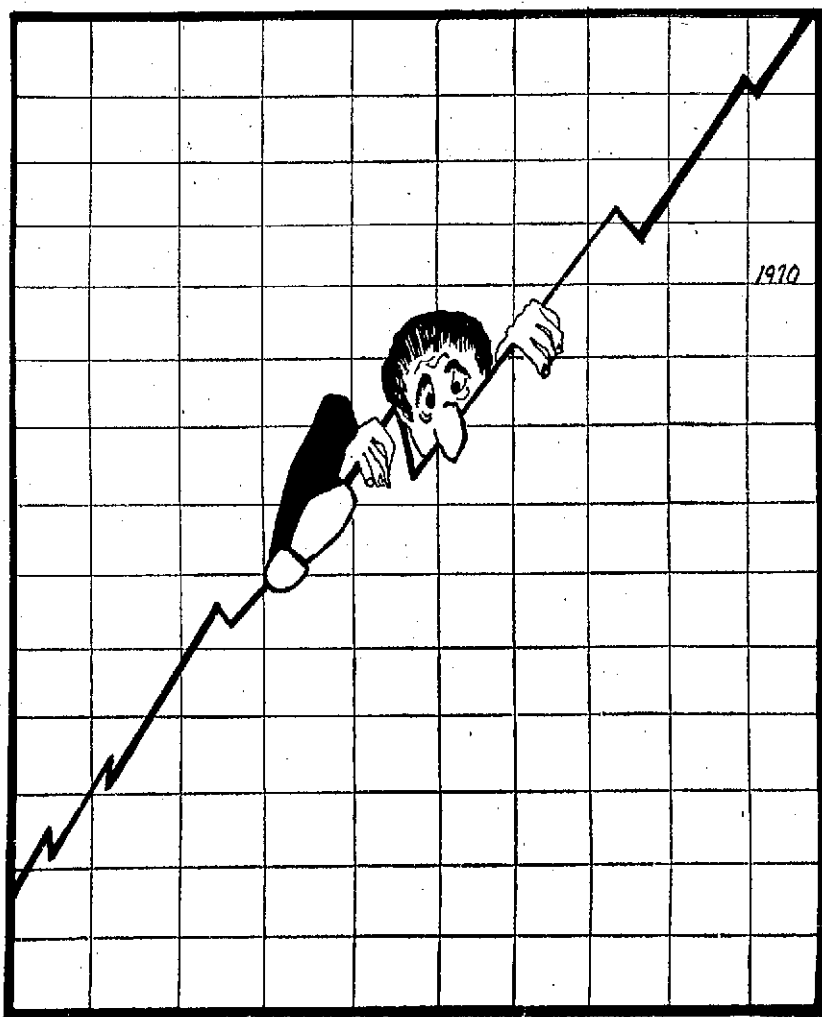

ANOTHER LONG BEACH resident joined city's delegation at Yokaichi: Dick Miller, water polo-history teacher on sabbatical from Millikan High. In chat are Dow Bowers (from left); Jerry Jacobs, Long Beach school board vice president; Miller, and Fonda McCook.

JACK BERBOWER, reflecting congeniality among Long Beach guests and Yokaichi, Japan, hosts during harbor cruise, gives Eisenhower grin.

TRYING TO GET ABOVE HIGH HOME PRICES?

THEY'LL BE HIGHER TOMORROW!

Sure, a new home costs money. So does a lot of other things. And none of them are getting cheaper. Especially Real Estate. Interest rates, building costs, prices are going up . . . by a thousand or two dollars a year.

You can beat this cost-price spiral if you buy your new home now. That way you'll be covered. Your home will rise in value as real estate prices rise. You'll build equity instead of spending money on rent. But you've got to do it soon . . . before it costs you even more!

Take a look at Saturday's PROGRESS section. It's packed with information on beautiful new homes from the area's finest builders. Pictures, features, advertisements will show you where to look and what's new in the construction industry. Do it soon . . . for relief from that cost hang-up!

Buccola Opens 1970 Luxury Homes

George D. Buccola noted builder-developer and president of Buccola Homes, has announced the opening of his new 1970 luxury homes with separate apartment units in Costa Mesa.

Unique, these three-bedroom luxury homes feature a separate private bedroom apartment for rental and extra income, or they may be used as a haven for a relative like a mother-in-law, repossessed daughter or favorite aunt.

The private separate and sound-proof apartment with 650 square feet has its own entrance, garage, living room with used brick fireplace, bath, and all electric built-in kitchen and dinette area.

Within the elegant main home, in addition to having three bedrooms and two baths are two used-brick fireplaces — one in the living room and the other with a barbeque unit in a large 20' x 30' rustic country style beamed ceiling kitchen. This home has over 1900 square feet.

THE ATTRACTIVE rustic apartment-homes have heavy shake roofs with used brick and redwood exterior siding.

Both the home and the apartment have their own separate laundry service, forced air furnaces and private garden and patio area.

Each house and apartment is Bronze Medallion with an all electric Hotpoint kitchen with oven, range, dishwasher, disposal, and refrigerator.

Unusually fine quality construction is found throughout with foundation footings six inches deeper than usual, copper water pipes and fully insulated ceilings and walls.

Other luxury features found throughout are wall-to-wall carpeting, complete fencing, and sprinklers.

apartments are within easy walking and driving distance to parks, schools, public transportation and Costa Mesa stores and shopping centers.

The homes are open daily from 10 a.m. to dusk on Center Street near the intersection of Center and Anaheim Street by Costa Mesa Park in Costa Mesa.

The sales information office is at 220 E. 17th St.

According to M. M. La Borda, realtor and exclusive sales agent, the homes are priced at $48,000 with favorable financing available.

Ideally located, these homes with separate

Vice Mayor Bert Bond will head a six-man European Trade Development Mission leaving Long Beach May 30 for London.

During the 21-day mission the delegation will meet with shipbuilders, shippers, ship operators and other representatives in the industry in eight cities in six countries.

The stay in London will coincide with the International Container Exhibition at which the Port of Long Beach will have an exhibit.

Also making the European mission will be Llewellyn Bixby Jr., vice chairman of the Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners and James G. Craig Jr., a member of the commission.

Staff members who also will make the mission will be Thomas G. Thorley, port general manager; James McJunkin, director of port development; and Frank Pard, secretary to the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

The last trade development mission to Europe was more than five years ago.

The many new developments in the shipping industry which have taken place in Europe during that time makes it "imperative" that a trade development mission by the Port of Long Beach be undertaken at this time, Thorley said recently.

THE LOS ANGELES AREA CHAMBER of Commerce is attempting to compile a file of member companies which have made efforts to stop pollution of the land, sky and waters.

Those companies which have published material concerning their pollution abatement efforts are asked to provide the chamber with copies. A brief written outline (with pictures if available) would be acceptable as a substitute for published material.

The chamber is amassing the material so that it can have some specific answers to the often-put question:

"What is business and industry doing about combatting pollution?"

APPOINTMENT OF THOMAS J. THORLEY, general manager of the Port of Long Beach, as vice chairman of the 1970 World Trade Week Committee is announced by Robert H. Autenreith, chairman of the annual event.

The 44th observance of World Trade Week will be held in the Los Angeles-Long Beach area from May 17 to 23. WTW is sponsored by the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Ports of Long Beach and Los Angeles, Los Angeles International Airport, County Board of Supervisors, and the Los Angeles Clearing House Association.

WHALE COUNT DIPS: The Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries on Terminal Island reported 3,064 gray whales were counted passing Yankee Point, in Monterey County during this year's whale count.

The count is down slightly from the count of 3,081 in 1969 and from 3,120 in 1968.

The count was made during the southward migration from mid-December ending in February.

AHA to Present 2 Speakers

The Apartment House Association, Long Beach-Southern Cities, will hold its April dinner meeting in the Huntington Park Elks Club Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Speakers are George Willson, attorney, "Current Income Property Laws," and Charles R. Brady, attorney, "Trends in Rent Strikes and Tenant Unions."

WILLSON is a member of the legal panel of apartment association attorneys and a former member of the California State Legislature. His offices are in Huntington Park.

Brady is a member of the board of directors of the Apartment House Association, chairman of the legal panel and the senior partner in the Long Beach firm that bears his name.

All income property owners are invited to attend.

DUTCH DIVIDENDS

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Of the 246 Dutch companies whose shares are traded on the Amsterdam Stock Exchange and whose dividends for the 1968 fiscal year were declared in the first six months of 1969, 134 announced a higher dividend than for the previous fiscal year, 88 unchanged and 24 lower.

Renting is for the fish.

Your landlord loves you. You've been building his bank account since the day you moved in.

You could have been snow-balling your own equity in a new Tempo Starter. This is a big budget-priced home that you can add bedrooms to as you need them.

Smart. Ever try to add a bedroom to an apartment. Or someone else's home.

We've got a Spacemaster, too. This is a big beauty that you can grow into. Not out of. We've left a big space unfinished upstairs. Out of sight. As you get more family or money (or both) you can finish it off. Or we can do it for you now at a very nominal cost.

Come on out today. See how easily you can turn your wasted monthly rent into a secure investment in your family's future.

Nothing fishy here.

Yorktowne Attracts Families From Afar

Lt. and Mrs. Frank J. Taddel and their three children have just moved into their new 1970 New England style home in Shields Development Co.'s Yorktowne community in Huntington Beach.

The Taddels, formerly of New London, Conn., selected a Yorktowne home because the community reminded them of the familiar and picturesque salt box homes of New England.

In addition to the architectural appeal, Mrs. Taddel commented that "we purchased a Yorktowne home because of the outstanding Fountain Valley school district serving the community. Top rated schools are within walking distance. In addition the schools have excellent playground facilities for volleyball, baseball, basketball, and tennis as well as other sports."

BUILT by pioneer developer Lawrence P. Shields, Yorktowne homes incorporate all of the latest modern innovations the building industry has to offer, yet includes many charming features normally found only in older more expensive homes.

Priced from $26,995, the homes are one and two-story, with two, three or four bedrooms and all come complete with the popular Shields "turn-key" package including carpets, drapes, fencing and a built-in kitchen.

Another excellent feature about these homes is that the two-bedroom models can be expanded with a minimum of cost and effort.

LOCATED only minutes from the ocean and some of the finest beaches in California, Yorktowne residents have year-round mild climate and the huge playground of the Pacific practically at the back door.

NEW 1970 model homes at Yorktowne, part of the third unit of homes in the community, have just opened to the public.

To reach this new community drive south on Brookhurst from the Garden Grove, Santa Ana or San Diego Freeways and turn right on Yorktown Avenue to the models, one block west of Brookhurst. Furnished and landscaped models are open daily from 10 a.m. until dusk.

Farrow Realty Names New District Chiefs

Two new district managers to the Farrow Realty Corporation's staff were named this week by the pioneer company's head, Jerry Farrow, in an expansion move to consolidate the firm's 20 offices into two separate divisions.

Steve Grannis will head the 29-year-old company's Southern Orange County offices while new appointee Bob MacLean will be in charge of the Farrow Northern division.

The Southern group includes offices in Tustin, Santa Ana, Huntington

Beach and Costa Mesa while the Northern wing includes Buena Park, Anaheim, Garden Grove and Fullerton headquarters.

GRANNIS resides in Costa Mesa and has been active in real estate since 1965. He attended both Long Beach State and Brigham Young where he majored in real estate. He has been with the Farrow organization since late 1969.

MacLean, who just joined the Farrow management team, is a veteran of 12 years in real estate and property management. An Orange County native, the new Northern district manager lives in Santa Ana.

In naming the two new district heads, Farrow pointed to the future of real estate in Orange County.

"With the market that lies ahead in the seventies, we at Farrow are anxious to train new people in this vital industry that continues to expand," he explained.

AT THE COUNTRY SCENE

Separate Outdoor Areas for Adults, Children

Zone outdoor living areas which enable both parents and teen-ages to entertain outdoors simultaneously are one of the most popular advantages of M. J. Brock's Select-A-Site Plan at The Country Scene in Lake Forest, according to Sales Manager Norm Stern.

"With our Select-A-Site Plan, purchasers are able to get a square lot, rather than the normal rectangular lot," Stern says. "So, instead of the usual situation in which the back yard is too big and the side yards are too small, they can have usable yards on both sides. This is especially important to maturing families with older children who would like to have a little privacy."

USING THE four-bedroom, two-story Holiday House as an example, Stern noted that it provides an ideal outdoor entertaining arrangement for such families.

"One of the side yards is big enough for a pool while the other will accommodate a large dining deck. The back yard can be used in conjunction with either side yard. So, the younger set can have a swimming party while the parents can have an outdoor dinner party for several couples.

"Both groups would have direct access to the family room, kitchen, and downstairs bath, yet both would have privacy. And, thanks to the impressive front entry gallery, the teens can enter the pool area without ever going through the house."

THE HOLIDAY House is one of five plans designed for maturing families at The Country Scene in Lake Forest.

Two, three, and four-bedroom homes are available on the Select-A-Site plan with either rectangular or square lots.

Base prices at The Country Scene range from $25,950 to $32,250 with FHA and VA loans are available.

Apartment Owners Management Institute Scheduled for April 29

The Apartment House Association, Long Beach-Southern Cities, will host an Apartment Owners Management Institute on Wednesday, April 29, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Edgewater Hyatt House, 6400 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., according to Bernhard J. (Bernie) Specht, president.

The six-hour educational program is the third high-level annual symposium dedicated to property management executives, architects, builders, apartment income property owners and managers in Southern California.

James McElroy, education committee chairman, said material for the program has been specifically prepared to meet the needs of current harassment from rent control, rent strikes, tenant unions and a factual presentation to build-manage income property in a profitable manner.

FIRST speaker of the morning session, Don Royale, will present his seminar on "Managing Income Property." He is senior apartment house property manager for Los Angeles headquarters of William Walters Company, secretary of the Los Angeles Chapter, Institute of Real Estate Management, and the author of many articles for the Journal of Property Management. Second speaker will be Charles R. Brady, attorney, who will discuss "Apartment Laws Today." Brady is chairman of the legal panel of Apartment House Association attorneys, member of the board of directors and the National Apartment Association observer to the recent National Institute for Education in Law and Poverty.

He has been a consultant on recent rent strikes in the Southern California area.

HAL FROME, trust officer, will direct his seminar to "Estate Planning." The speaker is a trust officer attorney, chief officer for estate planning with Title Insurance and Trust Company, Orange County. He is an author on many papers for estate planning.

John J. Walsh will speak on "Income Tax Aspects for Income Property Owners." The lecturer is a specialist in the area of income property taxation and the senior partner of the Long Beach firm that bears his name.

Luncheon speaker will be Brad Carlton, president of Multi-Family Builders Council, Los Angeles. His topic: "The Future in Building and Managing in Today's Market."

Carlton is property manager in the Costa Mesa headquarters of the Wm. Lyon Development Company, Inc.

THE AFTERNOON session will be opened by Eugene L. Zechmeister, executive vice president, Apartment House Association, Long Beach-Southern Cities, the largest trade association in the United States. Zechmeister will speak on "Apartment and Income Property Legislation."

Bernhard J. Specht, president Specht Realty-Management Company, Long Beach, will speak on the "Undesirable Tenant."

Specht is president of the Apartment House Association.

Featuring a talk by Jack Pardee, 220-pound defensive linebacker of the Los Angeles Rams football team, the first of a series of open monthly dinner meetings to which all members of the construction industry are invited will be held by the Builders' Exchange of Long Beach on Monday evening at the Golden Sails Inn, 6285 E. Pacific Coast Highway.

Chairman Roy Reis said non-members desiring to attend the meeting should obtain their tickets at the exchange office, 423 Walnut Ave., or make advance reservations.

Donation of $5 per person.

"Variety" will be the format of the new "open" meetings, according to Exchange President Phil Wiedrick.

Now being planned at least six months in advance under the direction of Entertainment Chairman Fred Dunn, he explained, they will not only present outstanding personalities from the sports and entertainment worlds, but will also include thought-provoking talks by noted authorities on diversified subjects of current and general interest.

PARDEE, who has been booked for the "curtain-raiser" program this month and who has been assigned by coach George Allen to call the defensive signals for the Rams this fall, is one of the most talented and conscientious players in pro-football.

An honor graduate of Texas A & M and the holder of numerous academic and athletic honors, he ranked highest in his group during active service with the Army following his senior year. He was drafted by the Rams in 1957; and except for two years — when he underwent surgery in 1963 and when he coached at Texas A & M in 1964 — he has been with the club ever since.

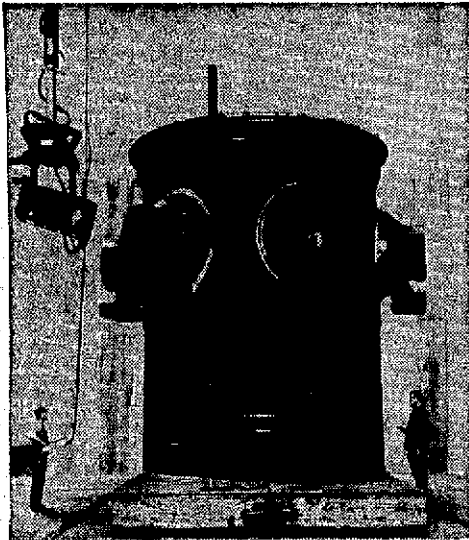

This year he will become only the second Ram ever to perform for 13 seasons with the club.

MINI X-RAY UNIT

Nuclear technology is requiring bigger and thicker pressure vessels for reactors, and the thicker the vessel the tougher the x-raying job to seam weldments. Here, a Varian Associates Radiation Division new Linatron 1500 linear accelerator (upper left), capable of x-raying steel up to 20" thick, is being readied to check a high pressure nuclear vessel manufactured by Combustion Engineering, Inc., Chattanooga, Tenn. Generating 7½ million electrons volts, the compact Varian accelerator offers industry unprecedented ease of handling and raft of safety features. Varian's Radiation Division also is leading producer of clinical linear accelerators for cancer therapy.
